A Third Term?
How Many Third Parties?
Constitution Wobbly?
Murder and Society.

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1920.

Will the President run for a third term? He has not said no or yes. But to all newspapers have been sent officially photographs showing him as he is today. The people will be glad to see that he looks well and strong enough to run for President or anything else.

Whoever runs this year, may run in interesting company.

The women threaten an independent party to rebuke Democrats and Republicans for failure to pass the Suffrage amendment.

The Drys threaten a party because "Republicans and Democrats are too wet" or neutral. The Wets threaten a party because no platform is wet enough.

The negroes threaten a party of their own, just why is not clear. They certainly can't be tired of Abraham Lincoln.

La Follette and his friends are planning a demonstration.

And, most important, Hiram Johnson, "looking down on the Bay of California" sits within the shadow, keeping watch above his own.

"Practical politics," seeing these little parties bubbling, smiles complacently, and does not worry.

Mr. Hughes talking to graduates of Harvard's Law School wonders whether "the constitutional government heretofore maintained in this Republic could survive another great war, even victoriously waged."

Not much of a compliment for the constitution interpreted for the people by Mr. Hughes as judge of the Supreme Court. If the constitution is so weak, people ought to know it, and not be told that it is perfect, immortal, eternal. They should keep their minds on improving, strengthening and changing it for next time.

If a man bought a gun to shoot rabbits and were told "That gun is all right for shooting one rabbit, but may blow up if you try to shoot another," he would hunt around for a better gun

Another distinguished Republican, Taft, formerly President, contributes to the thought of the moment this definition of the next Presidential campaign: "Americanism against sovietism and unpatriotic red radicalism will be the chief issue of this campaign, and on it Harding and Coolidge have every prospect of winning."

Another surprising statement.

American fathers and mothers understand that there were issues [illegible] from Sovietism or Red [illegible]sm. For instance, the price of butter, meat, gasoline, clothing, rent.

The modern dragon "Kaiser," lying on his Rheingold, might say: "The chief issue is to keep anybody from getting this gold away from me!"

To the mothers and fathers, the issue is "How can I feed and clothe my children and keep a roof over their heads?"

The average worker the problem is admirable expressed by Sir Auckland Geddes, the intelligent ambassador from England.

"We have in Europe now millions of people who are in a stage—millions of working people who say to themselves: 'What is a life worth that at the end leaves us with nothing achieved except having avoided being starved to death and having produced children who will follow in our path?'

If the American people had a chance to express their feelings they would tell Mr. Taft on election day that they considered "Sovietism and Red radicalism" secondary and unimportant issues. But old Papa Fatner, boss of the corporation Rheingold, chooses which candidates and what people have no chance to say anything.

What makes a murder interesting or uninteresting to Americans? It is that to which we are supposed to be indifferent, rank and social prestige, glamour surrounding human parasites that spend and earn nothing.

You know enough and too much about the Elwell murder in New York with his bridge whist, Palm Beach, race track, society attachments. Newspapers that ordinarily call murders news not fit to print give five columns a day and more to the bullet that caused the "Bridge King" to "pass" for the last time.

Near to Mr. Elwell's residence comes the murder of Gabin, "King of the Spaniards." He had a beautiful apartment, was found with a bullet in his heart, quite as interesting as a bullet in the brain. Twenty thousand dollars had been stolen from him, diamond rings taken from his fingers, his wife, twenty years old, was wringing her hands. Newspapers mention it and pass on. The "King of the Spaniards" was not, like the "King of bridge whist" was, in society. We are a curious nation of democratic, dragging our snobbishness even into murder mysteries.

Race problems are bad enough without exaggerating them. A quarrel between whites and blacks in Chicago, two killed, many wounded, showed "negroes burning an American flag." The public should remember that the flag was produced and burned by a rascally white man seeking to mislead the negroes. The policeman who dashed in to save the flag from the flames, and who was shot, was a negro policeman.

Negroes as a rule, are and mean to be law abiding. They make mistakes, so do the whites. They are called upon to bear every provocation patiently.

MANY DEAD AND DYING IN NEW IRISH BATTLE

CARDINAL MAY FACE DELAY

Quarantine Likely to Prevent S. S. Canopic Docking on Time Tomorrow

Two thousand passengers aboard the White Star liner Canopic, Cardinal O'Connell of Boston among the number, face a delay in landing when the ship comes in tomorrow, because of lack of a clean bill of health to this port.

It is even possible that the 1,000 steerage and second-class passengers aboard may be taken off at Gallup's Island and quarantined for several days, should an epidemic be found on the ship.

White Star liner officials here today admitted that the ship had no clean bill of health, but declared it was because of a conflict in authority between the health authorities of Naples, Italy and the American consul here.

The Canopic was to dock shortly after sunrise tomorrow. Now, however, United States health inspectors will board the ship as she enters the harbor and begin an investigation.

If these is no serious epidemic aboard, Cardinal O'Connell and the other saloon passengers will probably be brought direct to Boston within a few hours in a boat sent down the harbor to meet them. The steerage and second-class passengers face a wait of hours, in any event.

If evidence of an epidemic is found, the passengers will be removed at Gallup's Island and forced to wait out the prescribed quarantine period, at the expense of thousands of dollars to the line.

Cardinal O'Connell is returning from a journey to Rome.

TWO INJURED WHEN STAGING COLLAPSES

Two workmen were injured, one seriously, today when a staging on the Boston Elevated structure in front of the South Station, where they were working, collapsed, throwing them to the pavement. They are Thomas Lake, 54 years old, of No. 5 Whittier street, East Boston, and Austin G. Jackson, 42 years old, of No. 1 Bradshaw street, Medford. Lake suffered a compound fracture of the skull and other injuries. Jackson sustained injuries to the elbows.

HOLD DETROIT BANKER AS DWYER'S SLAYER

Detroit, Mich., June 23.—Police today arrested Frank H. Dohany, banker and lawyer, charging him with slaying of August Dwyer, travelling auditor of the United Mine Workers of America, whose body was found in the office of his brother, Dennis Dwyer, an attorney, in a downtown building last night. He seemed dazed when arrested and his clothing bore blood spots.

BANK DIRECTOR GUILTY OF SEVEN OFFENSES

Philadelphia, June 23.—William T. Gahell, formerly director-clerk in the North Penn Bank, was found guilty on seven counts in connection with the failure of the bank which closed its doors July 13, 1919. Pending a motion for a new trail he was released in $10,000 bail.

BROCKTON MAN DIES AFTER AUTO CRASH

Brockton, June 23.—Carl R. Trott, twenty-nine years old, of No. 5 Williams court, died at Brockton Hospital today from injuries received when, accompanied by his four-year-old son, Harold, he collided Monday evening with an automobile driven by Frank L. Nevitt of No. 44 Holander street. Trott was thrown from his motorcycle and his son escaped injury.

Murphy for Beer and Seeks Luce's Seat

Running on a light beer platform, Dr. William H. Murphy of Brookline has taken out nomination papers for the Republican nomination for Congress in the Thirteenth District, to succeed Robert Luce.

"I believe in a modification of the Volstead act," said Dr. Murphy, who is a veterinary. "And I believe in the sale of light beers. Those who feel the same will have a chance to vote for me. Furthermore, my opponent, Mr. Luce, is a made-over Democrat."

RESCUE GIRL ON MOUNTAIN

Posse Finds Miss DeMaris of Cambridge, Lost for 6 Hours on Monadnock

Jaffrey, N. H., June 23.—Lost in the almost impenetrable wilderness on the slope of Mt. Monadnock, Miss Helen F. DeMaris of Whittier Hall, Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge, Mass., was found exhausted after a six-hour search and rescued just before a terrific thunder storm swept the mountain.

Miss DeMaris, a guest at The Ark here, started out for a tramp to the summit accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Kenyon of Salem, Mass. Halfway up the climb became too much for her and she told her companions of her intention of returning to the hotel.

The Kenyons upon returning to the hote discovered Miss DeMaris had failed to return. A posse headed by Chief of Police Jere J. Mahoney, Joseph Goby of the State Forestry Service, and E. L. Leighton, fire warden, commenced a systematic search. They were beginning to give up hope when faint cries were heard from Spooty Woods, near the Peterboro side. They found Miss DeMaris almost exhausted.

JUDGE PINNED UNDER AUTO WITH HIS WIFE

Portland, Me., June 23.—Judge Charles F. Johnson of the United States Court of Appeals, and his wife, were slightly injured when the automobile in which they were riding skidded on York Hill in Yarmouth. The machine capsized, pinning both beneath it.

VOLSTEAD BEATEN IN PRIMARY

Author of Prohibition Enforcement Law Defeated by Non-Partisan League Opponent

St. Paul, June 23.—A. J. Volstead, Representative from the Seventh District and sponsor of the prohibition enforcement law, which bears his name, was defeated in the primary election for renomination.

His opponent, O. J. Kvale, who, according to the latest figures, won the Republican nomination, is a preacher at Benson, whose candidacy was indorsed by the Non-Partisan League. He is said to be a Prohibitionist, but it is known he received the support of the wet element, greatly displeased with the onslaught of 1 per cent. alcoholic content definition of intoxicating liquors in the Volstead Act.

The returns, covering 284 of the 375 precincts in the district, give Kvale a majority of 1,870. His majority has steadily increased with each succeeding report, and there is little doubt he has won over Volstead by more than 1,000.

Andrew J. Volstead, whose name is attached to the Prohibition Enforcement Act, is serving his ninth term and eighteenth year as Representative of the Seventh Minnesota District and is chairman of the Judiciary Committee. He is a native of Minnesota, a graduate of St. Olaf's College and an attorney at law. Prior to his election to Congress Volstead had served fourteen years as county attorney for Yellow Medicine County.

NEW YORK TELEGRAPH DAILY TO BE 10 CENTS

New York, June 23.—The daily edition of the New York Morning Telegraph will be ten cents a copy, beginning Monday, July 5, according to an announcement. The Sunday edition, which has been selling for ten cents for some time, will continue at that price. Increased cost of materials and labor has made the advance of the daily edition to ten cents necessary, it was said.

BARGE BRINGS BIG CARGO OF GLASS PRESERVERS

Longshoremen rubbed their eyes, then rubbed them again as old coal barge, pulled up to Long wharf with 3,000 gross of glass preserving jars to unload. Gloucester Jitney With Children Barely Escapes Dive into the Sea

Gloucester, June 23.—Twenty persons were injured today when an autobus loaded with Lanesville school children, teachers and stenographers rolled down a Washington street embankment here and overturned.

Faulty brakes caused the accident, according to chauffeur Joseph Lipinski, whose presence of mind prevented the machine from backing over a fifteen-foot sea wall into Goose Cove.

Eight of the Lanesville people suffered severe injuries and were treated at the Addison Gilbert Hospital. They were:

Mrs. John O'Brien, who sustained grave head and body injuries.

Rose Zenfrini, a school teacher.

Virginia St. John, a student at Gloucester High School.

Mrs. Mary Sironen.

Mrs. Joseph Draif.

Miss Angela Johnson, a stenographer.

George Taylor, a schoolboy.

Mrs. Margaret Lane.

Among the others treated by physicians with offices near the scene of the accident, or at their own homes were: Miss Elsie Anderson, schoolgirl.

Girl Is "Purused" By Railway Train

Plymouth, June 23.—Being chased by a train was the experience of Angelina Pappelo, aged fifteen, who is employed at the Plymouth Cordage Works.

She was walking on the railroad tracks on her way home from work, when a train from Boston drew up behind her. Apparently terrified, she ran down the middle of the track for about a hundred yards and did not get out of the way of the train until she approached what is known as the Nelson street crossing.

There was nothing to prevent her stepping off the tracks.

Baby Fox Presented to Zoo by Mayor

Mayor Peters was the recipient of an unusual gift today in the form of a tiny red fox, two and a half months old. The fox was delivered on the farm of Augustus Teal in North Somerville and was won for twelve cents in a raffle by Richard J. Kelly, an inspector in the water division of the city. The Mayor has presented it to Franklin Park Zoo.

The little animal instantly made friends with the Mayor's clerks at City Hall and allowed the girl employes to fondle it.

BURGLAR SUSPECT HELD IN $2,500 BAIL

Edward J. Riddell, twenty-seven years old of Jersey City, N. J., arrested at the Boston Y. M. C. A. building, charged with having burglar's tools in his possession, pleaded not guilty in Roxbury Court today before Judge Ahearn and was held in $2,500. It is alleged he aroused suspicion while going about the Y. M. C. A. and when searched, a towel was found with a large number of keys concealed in it.

Orders of Sinn Fein Rule Ireland

By DENIS O'CONNELL.

Cork, Ireland, June 23.—People unfamiliar with Ireland ask continually whether another revolution similar to the Easter Week revolt of 1916 is likely to occur. The question is a difficult one to answer because revolution is here already, and if success attends the efforts of the Sinn Feiners in the future as it has up to the present, rebellion on the large scale of a full calling out of the volunteers will be both unnecessary and useless.

"I have been told that England will never countenance an Irish republic, but whether the British government likes it or not, it has to face the fait [illegible] of the situation and at the moment the Irish republic does exist in very nearly three-fourths of the country.

I base on that statement on citing the fact that the decrees of the Sinn Fein are obeyed and carry authority with the bulk of the Irish people to an immeasurably greater degree than the orders and the mailed fist of the British Empire.

In the fury of events in Ireland, the [illegible] happened and murderers and robbers became so common during the past week months that the situation as regards the common

DESPERATE SITUATION AT DERRY

'City Engulfed in Terrible Disaster," According to Press Association

By International News Service.

London, June 23.—The pitched battle at Londonderry between Sinn Feiners and Loyalists continued all day and dead and wounded are lying in the streets, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch today.

Denis Henry, attorney-general for Ireland, announced in the House of Commons that he had received a message from Londonderry, timed 10 o'clock this morning, that all was quiet in the city at that hour.

The Press Association, nonetheless regarded as the mouthpiece of the government, says:

"The Londonderry situation is desperate. The city is becoming engulfed in terrible disaster."

REPUBLIC RULES THREE-FOURTHS OF IRELAND, DESPITE BRITISH

MAILED FIST OF ENGLISH HAS FAILED IN REVOLT

rights of property and ownership became alarming.

As early as last January the Sinn Feiners, believing it their duty to help to bring the malefactors to justice, decided upon arresting those whom they thought guilty of crime and handing them over to the British police.

This method was not successful as the police refused to co-operate in the prosecution and the Sinn Fein was compelled to establish its own prisons and inaugurate its own methods of dealing with the offenders.

Within the present month at least 200 men have been taken for various offences committed over a considerable period back. They have been tried in the now famous "midnight courts."

In cases where the prisoner confessed his guilt and showed repentance, releases have been granted and fines imposed, but in other cases where the enormity of the crime warranted it, the offenders either were deported or sent to a Sinn Fein gaol.

The effect of this move on the part of the Irish Republicans has been astonishing. Stolen property has been restored and the number of larceny cases has dwindled to almost nil.

BRITISH POWERLESS.

An illustration of the powerlessness of the British government police has been furnished lately here in Cork. A gang of midnight plunderers was caught by a British night police patrol. The thieves were locked up in cells to await trial.

When the time for their arraignment came it was found that they had forced the window and railings of their cells and escaped. But before they had been at liberty for three hours the Sinn Fein police had them rearrested and tried before a Sinn Feinn military court; each was sentenced to six months.

That is one of the bloodless signs of the revolution. There is another side to it, the fighting side. Cork harbor, familiar to so many Irish-Americans as the place where they sailed from their native land, today presents the spectacle of a French port in wartime.

I spent considerable time in Queenstown, both before and after the arrival of the American battleship that helped fight the German U-boats. I distinctly recall the meagre forces which the British had there prior to May 1, 1917, when off the Fastnet the German submarines were playing havoc with the world's shipping. And it not been for the American destroyers of the Wordsworth class the Central powers would, in all probability, have been victors in the World War.

HARBOR FULL OF TROOPSHIPS.

In contrast with that time, Britain today has the harbor swarming with war vessels of every class and type. Troopship after troopship arrived, with marines, Highlanders and English units.

As in the French ports during the war, there are disembarkation staffs and transport officers and special troop trains waiting to direct the men to their destination.

Cargoes of buried wire, field and machine guns are continually landed on the quaysides. In every hotel and theatre in the South of Ireland khaki predominates. The soldier's uniform has disappeared from London, but it is omnipresent in Cork and Dublin. Ireland is to be swamped with troops, but every "parish and plough land will have to be occupied by a regiment if England is to regain control over the country.

That is the one and only way out of the mess for England. For the Sinn Feiners are tirelessly organizing and intensifying their activity. If the whole of County Cork were to be placed under English military occupation tomorrow, the Sinn Feiners would only redouble their efforts in Limerick and other counties, and the moment the English forces were withdrawn from Cork to quell disturbances in other parts, Cork itself would promptly again become a Sinn Fein "Theatre of operation."

Ireland is today almost three times as many British troops in Ireland as there are on the Rhine. There are in Erin as many troops as carried out the campaign against the Turks in Mesopotamia. Yet, the Sinn Feiners become daily more confident of victory. One asks them when it is all going to end, and they reply: "When England clears out of Ireland and the Irish Republic is recognized."

ALARM CLOCK CAUSES SCARE AT PLYMOUTH

Plymouth, June 23.—Ringing of an alarm clock in the courtroom caused a panic among several hundred spectators. They thought that the building was going to be blown up as threatened in a "red note" found near Plymouth Rock. The note said that unless Bartholomeo Vanzetti, who is being tried on a charge of attempted robbery in connection with the theft of the L. Q. White payroll, was released the courthouse would be wrecked. Philip Brazos was arraigned today on suspicion of having something to do with making the threat. Extra guards have been stationed in the courthouse.

SHORT-WEIGHT SUGAR SELLER FINED $20

Manchester, N. H., June 23.—Emil D. Moore, a grocer of this city, was before the Municipal Court on a complaint of City Sealer Keane, charged with selling short weight in sugar. Moore pleaded not guilty but admitted that he knew his scales were wrong, claiming that he had endeavored to notify the city sealer.

Judge Perkins imposed a fine of $20 and costs with the admonition that he had no business to use the scales if he knew they were out of order.

50 BOTTLES OF WHISKEY SEIZED ON STEAMSHIP

Customs officials seized about 50 bottles of whiskey in the stateroom quarters of the steamship Lake Savas, which is discharging a cargo of raw sugar from Matanzas at the American refinery wharf, South Boston. Unless an owner for the liquor can be found, the captain will be liable to a heavy fine.

KILL WOMAN AT LONDONDERRY

Snipers Are Busy in Fresh Clash Between Sinn Fein and Unionists

Unionists and Sinn Feiners at Londonderry during the night.

The fresh outbreak of hostilities followed a brief lull Tuesday afternoon.

The fighting was violent and covered a wide area of the city. Several buildings in the business district were burned.

Word received from Londonderry at 4:30 o'clock said that fighting was Sinn Feiners and Unionists, from behind barricades surmounted with armored motor cars. Many were reported to be heavy.

There was much looting at Londonderry during the past twenty-four hours, particularly in buildings occupied by soldiers. An attack against the Londonderry College building was repulsed.

Irish volunteers were said to have attacked the residential district several times during the night. Women and children fled in panic.

SNIPERS KILL WOMAN.

Fighting resumed in intensity late Tuesday, and a woman was killed. Fires were started by bomb explosions. British troops that were called out on guard around property owned by Unionists were sniped at continuously by the Sinn Feiners.

The "reign of terror" apparently is spreading. Armed and trained Irish volunteers entered the fray at Londonderry today.

The Carmelites in this city (the Unionist followers of Sir Edward Carson) held a meeting to debate the advisability of marching to Londonderry to help the Unionists.

CIVIL WAR IMPENDS.

The situation here is tense with excitement. It is admitted that the waste of Ulster province is on the brink of civil war.

The temper of the Ulstermen is shown by the following extract from an editorial in the Northern Whig:

"The government seems to be afflicted with creeping paralysis. If it continues as weak as it is at present, Ulstermen will show that they are strong enough for the task at hand."

General Carter Campbell has assumed command of the British troops at Londonderry. He has slightly more than a battalion under his command, but two more battalions were being held at Belfast.

Dublin, June 23. — The Dublin Branch of the National Union of Railwaymen today sent a message to the Labor Party conference at Scarborough urging immediate action in the Irish situation.

Scarborough, Eng., June 23.—Stormy scenes marked the debate in the Labor Party conference on the Irish situation today. The members became so turbulent that the meeting was adjourned.

Lloyd George Tries to End Londonderry Riots

By International News Service.

London, June 23. — Immediately after his arrival from the Boulogne conference Premier Lloyd George today plunged into the Irish situation, seeking means of establishing peace at Londonderry. The Premier is said to consider the Londonderry situation critical, but has hopes for immediate improvement of it. Reinforcements of British troops will be sent to Londonderry by sea, owing to the Irish railway tieup.

Premier Lloyd George conferred first with Sir Nevil Macready, commander of the British troops in Ireland, and later Secretary of War Churchill and Viscount French were summoned to Downing street.

FREEMAN AND WIFE REST SIDE BY SIDE

Edward R. Freeman of No. 16 Seymour street, Roslindale, and his wife May, on whose deathbed he committed suicide, today rest side by side in Forest Hills Cemetery.

The bodies of Freeman and his wife started from their modest Roslindale home in the one funeral procession. Freeman's church already had given its religious consolation through Rev. Francis W. Sprague of Roslindale Plain, a Universalist minister.

While Mrs. Freeman's body was taken inside the church for the last rites of her faith, the body of the husband remained in its hearse outside. At the conclusion of the service, the wife's body was returned to its separate carriage and the procession resumed its way to the burial ground.

ACCEPT THEORY OF NEW MURDER BY BARNEY

Charlestown State Prison officials today were inclined to accept the theories theory that Herman L. Barney and Harry Manning, escaped convicts wanted for murder in Texas, killed Fred Montreal last night. This theory was advanced by Montreal police who had been seeking the Massachusetts fugitives for weeks. "It would not surprise me if the murderers were our men," said Chief Frank Commissioner of Penitentiaries. "Barney and Manning were the only two men missing from the prison on the day Montreal was murdered. When he attempted to arrest two men trying to break into a house.

IRISH FRIENDS BACK VALERA

Roger Casement Branch Calls New York Attacks "Treason to the Cause"

The Roger Casement Branch of the Friends of Irish Freedom has unqualifiedly aligned itself with Eamon De Valera in his controversy with leaders of the Irish movement in America. A telegram was sent to the President of the Irish republic today.

Attacks of Justice Daniel F. Cohalan and John Devoy upon De Valera were termed "treason to the cause." Jeremiah Carrol, president of the Roger Casement branch, one of the first chapters in the order of Irish Freedom, declared that a poll of the Irish throughout the country would show their sympathies to be almost uniformly with President De Valera. The telegram said:

"No tolerance for treason to cause. Stand with you as loyally as the volunteers you commanded at King's End area in rebellion of 1916."

It was signed by Jeremiah Carrol, president, and Daniel P. Smith, secretary, of the Roger Casement Branch.

King's End comprises a section of Dublin where Eamon De Valera was in charge of a unit during the outbreak of Easter Week, 1916.

FARMERS' COUNCIL PLAN WOULD SAVE $3 BILLION

Washington, June 23.—Saving of three billion dollars a year to the farmers of America, or $75 for every man, woman and child of the farmer population, provided the reconstruction program of the Farmers' National Council is adopted, is promised in an analysis of the plan issued by that organization here today. Government ownership of railroads, the council claims, will save farmers over a billion a year; government ownership of "the people's ships," at least $250,000,000, and Federal control of the packers at least $100,000,000.

Y. W. C. A. CONFERENCE OPENS AT MT. HOLYOKE

South Hadley, June 23.—The first session of the Eastern Student and Country Conference under the auspices of the National Board of the Young Women's Christian Associations was held at Mount Holyoke College. Miss Mabel Cratty, associate secretary of the department of research and method, who led the Central Town and Country Conference at Lake Geneva, Wis., last Summer, is the executive of the conference. Miss Marion Nosser is the registrar and Miss Julia Palmer the assistant registrar.

LEGLESS SOLDIER WEDS SCHOOL MATE

Marlboro, June 23.—Aubrey McLeod, who lost his legs in the World War, has been married to Miss Eleanor Hixson of Norwood. Mr. McLeod who is the son of E. B. McLeod, a Boston and Marlboro produce merchant, and Miss Hixson, attended the same school at Norwood, his former home. In July, 1917, McLeod, as a member of a Boston ambulance corps, lost both his legs when airmen bombed the hospital in which he was stationed. He is attending Technology and will continue his studies.

Women Protest State House Transfer

A "star chamber" session was held at the State House today by Councillor Harry H. Williams of Brockton, chairman of the Committee on State House, and Superintendent of Buildings Fred H. Kimball to hear a protest of prominent women against the transfer of the Division of Juvenile Training of the Department of Public Welfare from its present headquarters in the State House.

Despite the secret session, no American reporter learned of what went on through some of the women present, who desired that publicity be given to the meeting. They did not agree with Mr. Williams that the press should be excluded.

The burden of the arguments made by the women was that if the quarters in the sub-basement of the State House to which the Juvenile Training division has been transferred are not good enough for occupancy by men, they certainly are not fit for women and children.

The quarters occupied by the Juvenile Training Division were recently assigned to the American Legion for State headquarters after the officials of the legion had resented being assigned to the quarters in the sub-basement. The women who appeared before Williams and Kimball today said they had no quarrel with the officials of the American Legion, but they were emphatic that the women who work for the welfare of delinquent boys and girls of the State should not be forced to do business in quarters for men consider unfit.

The sub-basement rooms that the American Legion officials refused to occupy are the ones to which the Juvenile Training Division is assigned.

Among the women who protested were Dr. Lily Gwen Burbank, first vice-president of the City Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. George R. Fearing, chairman Massachusetts League of Women Voters; Mrs. Ella E. Gleason, president Massachusetts League of Women Voters; Mrs. Ella K. Gleason, president Massachusetts W. C. T. U.; Miss Frances Thumin, head worker for delinquent girls for Council of Jewish Women; Miss Anna Weinstock, president Women's Trade Union League; Mrs. Glendower Evans, prominent social worker and for thirty years a member of the board of the Division of Juvenile Training of the Department of Public Welfare, and Mrs. Wenona Osborne Pinkham, executive secretary of the Boston League of Women Voters.

At the conclusion of the "star chamber" session, during which newspaper men were requested to leave, Mr. Williams promised to place the women's protest before the Governor's Council.

U. S. OBSERVER AT BRUSSELS PARLEY

Washington, June 23.—The United States probably will be represented at the inter-allied conference at Brussels on July 2 by an observer. As the conference is to be devoted principally to matters of finance, it was thought likely that the Secretary of the Treasury would be asked to designate a representative. State Department officials would not comment on the statement of the allies at the Brussels conference might recommend repudiation of war debts.

ELWELL GAMBLED FOR HIGH STAKES WITH EUROPE'S ROYALTY

GIRL, INTRODUCED BY HOOVER, CALLS VICTIM A DON JUAN

New York, June 23.—The romantic life history of Joseph B. Elwell, murdered hon vivant, turfman and gambler, covering a span of six years, was bared today by Mlle. Amelia Hardy, one of the most favored of his feminine admirers. Mlle. Hardy described Elwell's metrorie career in European music hall, the gambling casinos at Monte Carlo and Carlsbad and at the homes of royalty, in an interview given the International News Service.

Mlle. Hardy, with his sister, Countess Sonia Stanislawska, youthful members of the Polish nobility, already have given authentic interesting sidelights on the habits of the slain clubman. She described today the ease with which Elwell won social distinctions abroad.

"I first met Mr. Elwell at the Ambassadorial ball in Carlsbad in the Summer of 1911," she said. We were introduced by Herbert Hoover.

"Joe Elwell was the Don Juan of the elite at Carlsbad. He was a favorite with everybody. He was a brilliant figure at every social affair in those months just prior to the outbreak of the war.

"A DIVINE DANCER."

"He belonged to the best clubs and was a divine dancer. On intimate terms with Europe's 400 and a member of the famous 'Travelers' Club of Paris, he gained entree to the homes of the nobility.

"At the gambling casinos he played for high stakes. The Grand Duke Nicholas of Russia and other members of the reigning houses were frequently his opponents across the green cloth. Only millionaires and professionals could afford the amusement demanded by Joe Elwell at the card table.

"When the war broke out we returned to America with Mr. Elwell. He was a frequent caller at our home here and we spent many pleasant evenings together at bridge. When he built his Palm Beach home I helped him to select the furnishings and decorations. We both had the same hobby—Chinese porcelains and old rugs."

Mlle. Hardy scorns the theory that Elwell was the victim of an outraged father or husband and declares he was slain by a gambler enemy.

Expressing her views, Mlle. Hardy said:

"A few days before he was killed Elwell had told Pastoral Swain, his best race horse, he should retire. Then he had made some rash promises to some hanger-on at the track to the effect that he would give him a certain sum if he would help put the deal through in some way. Elwell was to have negotiated. I think Joe changed his mind. I believe that the man brandished over Elwell's face and then resolved to kill Elwell.

MET RACE TRACK MEN.

"During Elwell's visit it was nothing unusual for him to be on at a very early hour to meet those men from the race track who would bring information to him. Very often he was at the track himself before 6 o'clock to observe the early morning workouts.

"I think that it was for one of these men that Mr. Elwell was waiting that morning. He was expecting word from the track in regard to an early morning workout. When that man arrived Joe left with him. This man again demanded that he be given a share of the sale price of Pastoral Swain and Mr. Elwell again refused. I think this man shot him.

"That murder act is too brutal for a woman to commit. Furthermore, I do not believe that Mr. Elwell, who was a very vain man, ever would have admitted any one but a subordinate to his home while he was clad in his pajamas and minus his toupee and false teeth. I did not know Mr. Elwell were a wig till months after I first met him."

MILITIA ON GUARD IN WATERBURY AFTER RIOT

Waterbury, Ct., June 23.—Following the shooting of police officers and of their assistant, in a culmination of a long-drawn-out strike of factory workers here, this city was calm today with the militia still on guard and no apparent attempt to resist their grip on the situation. Both police and militiamen were kept busy preventing gatherings in public, in accordance the edict of Chief of Police Beach. The funeral of Liberto Rizzo, who was shot and killed Monday after he had wounded Lieutenant Richard Leroy and John J. Bergin, head of the Scovill detective force, was held at his home.

'PHONE CALL IS ELWELL CLEW

Officials Say Bold Slayer Was a Master Mind at His Work

New York, June 23.—Investigators who are attempting to unravel the tangled threads of love, hate and jealousy involved in the mysterious murder of Joseph Bowne Elwell again turned today to the theory that the shooting was done by a man and that the murderer had remained hidden in Elwell's home at No. 214 West Eighth street for hours before the tragedy.

It has now developed that between 12:30 and 1 o'clock on the morning of June 11—the day of the crime—an attempt was made by someone in the turfman's home to get an out of town number on the telephone, but failed. Elwell had been sent home from the "midnight frolic" at that time, indicating that the call had been made by some one lying in wait for him. To the minds of the detectives it indicates also that the murderer was a person of great boldness.

After running down endless clews without result, the authorities declared today that the murder had been committed by a person who was a master of his work. Never in the annals of New York crime has a lawbreaker succeeded so well in covering his tracks and in escaping so completely without leaving some trace of his identity, no matter how slight.

Captain Carey, of the homicide squad of the Police Department, has issued orders to every person living in the block in which Elwell's house is located, but the police would not say that any man who might be suspected of the murder leave the house during the murder period, between 2:30 and 8:25 o'clock.

District Attorney Swann has telegraphed to Miss Hope Anderson, the friend of Countess von Schlegell, to come to this city to answer certain questions which the investigators are anxious to have answered. Miss Anderson was formerly a music student in New York, and only indirectly connected with the case through her friendship for von Schlegell.

FRIEND OF FORMER WIFE.

Von Schlegell and Elwell were friends, and the latter was very attentive to the former's divorced wife, Miss Viola Kraus. Miss Anderson and Von Schlegell dined with Elwell upon the Ritz-Carlton roof, where Elwell and a party of friends were dining at the same time the night before the murder. The party exchanged greetings.

Eight or ten letters seized in Miss Anderson's apartment in this city today by operatives of the district attorney's staff. District Attorney Swann was indignant that these letters were taken by the detective, as they were personal and private property.

The foreman of the garage where Von Schlegell kept a motor car said that Von Schlegell called for his automobile at 8 o'clock on the morning of the murder. It was undergoing repairs, so Von Schlegell departed, leaving a telephone number where he was to be called. This proved to be the number of Miss Anderson's apartment. The garage foreman said Miss Anderson frequently called for Von Schlegell's car.

"Girl in Black" Tells Ritz Dinner Secrets

Minneapolis, June 22.—The "woman in black" in the Elwell murder case has been found in Minneapolis.

She is Elsie Hope Anderson, twenty-two, singer, of No. 3012 Columbus avenue South. In the affidavit unidentified guest of Victor von Schlegell at the Ritz-Carlton in New York on the night previous to the death of Joseph B. Elwell.

In telling of the Ritz-Carlton dinner on the night of June 10, Miss Anderson said:

"The encounter of Mr. von Schlegell and myself with Mr. Elwell was wholly accidental."

Miss Anderson was attired in a blue velvet dressing gown hastily thrown on over dishabille. She showed strong excitement and was quite willing to admit she was agitated over the discovery of her connection with the case.

"Certainly I hoped I would escape discovery," she asserted, smiling a little at her own vehemence. You wouldn't want to be mixed in an affair like this, would you?"

Miss Anderson stoutly stood up for Von Schlegell. She said von Schlegell felt no enmity toward Elwell, although the latter had become an intimate friend of Viola Kraus, who was divorced from von Schlegell. She said:

"Mr. von Schlegell had phoned me on Wednesday and, learning I intended leaving for home Friday morning, had invited me to dine Thursday evening. He gave me my choice of any cafe in New York, and I picked the Ritz-Carlton Roof Garden because it was the most fashionable. I felt that inasmuch as it was to be my last party in New York I would make it a very nice one.

"We met Mr. Elwell twice in the course of the evening. Both meetings were brief, casual and apparently without any ill-feeling on either side. Miss Viola Kraus, Mr. von Schlegell's divorced wife, was with Mr. Elwell on both occasions."

Women Who Figure Prominently in the Elwell Mystery

At left, Miss Viola Kraus, former wife of Victor von Schlegell, who, with her brother-in-law, Walter Lewisohn, the latters' wife and Octavio Figueroa, a young Argentinan, dined with Elwell at the Ritz the evening preceding the murder. Centre, Mrs. Clara Derby Elwell, widow of the slain turfman. Right, Mrs. Marie Larsen, who, since October last, had been the housekeeper for the slain gambler. Repeated questioning by the officials finally forced her to admit that "the pink pajama girl" was known to her as "Miss Wilson." It was Mrs. Larsen who found Elwell dying from a bullet wound.

Elwell's Fascination for Girls a Mystery

By NELLIE BLY.

New York, June 23.—More absorbing and fascinating than fiction is the Elwell murder mystery. In real life it has no rival. Its many angles, its hundreds of interesting clews and its unbreakable riddle are tantalizing to the highest degree.

Joseph B. Elwell was the sort of character that once did not exist in America, once for a man not to be occupied he business or profession was a matter of censure and contempt. European countries have been filled with such specimens of mankind. Latterly New York has been becoming too close a copy of degenerate Europe to be pleasant or healthful.

AN IGLY PICTURE.

According to all the known facts, Elwell was no good as a husband or father. The sum and substance of his life was women, women of all kinds, women from the youngest age to middle age; women, women of all sorts, so long as they dressed well and didn't care.

And what an ugly picture of womankind the story of this man's life presents!

It sickens one's soul. It makes one feel, and even perhaps realize, that the standard of American womanhood has been frightfully lowered, and degraded.

What are young, good-looking girls finding in a middle-aged, bald-headed, toothless man to attract them?

"IT CAN'T BE LOVE."

It can't be love. It is as unnatural for a young girl in her teens to love a man old enough to be her father as it would for a young fish from trout to leave its cool, deep, shady pool to chew weeds upon the river bank. Youth attracts youth.

Joseph B. Elwell's murder is interesting. All that puzzles and cannot be explained fascinates and lures.

In that we are like monkeys. So we will speculate on the murder of Joseph B. Elwell. We will follow every possible clew. We will contemplate every possibility and impossibility. Our curiosity will give us no peace. We don't care particularly who did it, or why, but we want to know.

And we won't be satisfied until we do.

SEE CHANCE FOR WILSON

Possibilities of Stampede as Woman Leads Movement at Convention

By International News Service.

San Francisco, June 23.—Possibilities of a stampede for a third term for President Wilson in the Democratic national convention were seen here today by party leaders following the announcement of Miss Mary Foy of Los Angeles last she would cast her vote as a delegate for Woodrow Wilson as the nominee.

Miss Foy, recognized as one of the able leaders on the party, was positive in her determination to present the name of the President. She intends to suggest that a strong vice-presidential candidate be named and that if President Wilson is elected he may retire and turn the office over to the Vice-President or he may turn many of the burdens to the Vice-President.

"I don't know what the effect of my action will be, Miss Foy said today. "I have given voice to my views and everywhere, after the first shock, I have found reactions to be favorable. I believe that the President should be vindicated and I believe that the President is entitled to finish the work."

Miss Foy's announcement revived a story that the President desired a third term with a strong Vice-Presidential candidate in order that he might retire after he had received vindication.

Watch and Ward Asks Crusade Funds

Salem, June 23.—An appeal for funds to carry on a crusade against gambling and other vices is being sent broadcast here by the Watch and Ward Society in a circular signed by J. Frank Chase.

It cites the recent case of the Commonwealth against Sullivan here as an example of what the society is endeavoring to accomplish.

The appeal characterizes Salem as "an ill-governed and poorly-policed city," and says that Sullivan attempted to "buy the souls" of the police and dominate the society.

Because it cost the society $1,000 to carry on the case or "can times what it should have cost."

CROWDED LINER LEAVES PORT

American Trap Shooters for Olympics Among Passengers of S. S. Fort Victoria

With every stateroom taken, including some of those of the owners, the Furness-Warren passenger steamship service between Boston and Liverpool was inaugurated today by the sailing of the Fort Victoria, with 322 passengers and 2,000 tons of cargo, for England.

A large crowd, including representatives of all the principal shipping offices in Boston, friends and customs officials, with a band, gave a hearty sendoff to the ship.

Included in the passenger list were the American trap shooters, who will take part in the British open championship on July 16, 16 and 17 in England and in the Olympic games at Antwerp, Belgium, from July 23 to 31. The members of the team are Captain Jay Clark, Jr., of Worcester; Mark Arie, Champaign, Ill.; Frank M. Troth, Vancouver, Wash.; Frank S. Wright, Buffalo; Fred Plum, Atlantic City; Rex S. Donnelly, New York city; Horace Dorner, Cincinnati, O., and Forest W. McNair, Houston, Tex.

GUESTS OF B. A. A.

The team was entertained during its stay in Boston by the Boston Athletic Association, representatives of which were present to see the men off.

On board were four Chinese capitalists who have been in this country for the past three months establishing trade connections. They are S. C. Young, C. D. Chan, K. Lau and J. T. Woo, all of Hong Kong.

Young told a Boston American man that he had found very few Americans who realized the strong affection which exists in China for the United States, especially among the educated people. This genuine friendship, he said, will serve American merchants and manufacturers as the foundation for an immense foreign trade, if they will but avail themselves of it. The disinterested friendship of the United States, officials for China, he said, has won the Chinese people to this country.

CLERGYMEN ABOARD.

There were also a number of Episcopal clergymen of note standing aboard on the way to attend the Lambeth Episcopalian Conference in England, including Rev. Mr. Williams of Detroit, Archdeacon and Mrs. James Watson of Boston, another distinguished personage was J. P. Fowler of the W. U. Grace & Co. exporting firm of New York, who is visiting England, accompanied by his wife, son and daughter on a business and pleasure trip. Others sailing were, President John Grimble of the Gerard National Bank, Professor Chapman, professor of Harvard University

FOG AIDS RUM SMUGGLERS

Attempted Enforcement of Prohibition in Maine a Farce, Customs Men Admit

Eastport, Me., June 23.—The existence of liquor smuggling by sea through the medium of fast motor boats speeding out from the Canadian side of the isolated bays and wild coast line of upper Maine was admitted by customs officials here today.

To guard the wide sweep of this boundary coast, the government has stationed one immigration inspector here, and over in Lubec is a customs officer.

These men watch the sardine industry and check up the freight and passenger lists of two trains a day, one at 5 o'clock in the morning and the other at 1:20 p. m.

OPPOSITION TO CITIZENS.

But the worst feature at this port, the officials declare, is the opposition of the citizens to the presence even of the government officers.

Night and day power boats run liquor from the Canadian side, and the wearied officials are unable to cope with the situation.

A heavy fog lay over the harbor here today. An officer, at one time connected with the local port here, pointed out into the mist and said:

"You have seen the officer here up to his neck in work, and you can get some idea now of how many smugglers get away with it.

"There should be at least four men at this port. That seems small to you, no doubt, but we know the coast and we know where to go and how to go about closing up this district like a steel trap. But one man simply cannot do it. We want to see the law enforced, and, furthermore, it makes a joke of our law and our constitution and a joke of us, being unable to enforce the law. But what can one man do? What can the customs officer at Lubec do?

WATCHED BY SMUGGLERS.

"Everything he does is watched by the smugglers. They know what is going on this very minute. I have seen one man in the customs service worsted in his grave trying to stop rum running on top of his other work. What can anyone here know of what is going on under this mantle of fog? And we surely would with men enough."

The discovery of the existence of wholesale rum running, which followed an investigation by the American of the smuggling of liquor into Dartmouth College by Robert T. Meade, who is charged with murdering Henry H. Marooey, a senior, over a dispute about whiskey, has brought from official channels some startling facts.

At the border ports at Newport, West Berkshire, Franklin, Swanton, Richmond, Highgate, Derby Line, Island Pond, and Beecher Falls, Vermont; Jackman, Eastport, Madawaska, Fort Kent, Port Fairfield and Eastport, in Maine, the same reports are made by officers at these ports.

LIQUOR ENFORCEMENT A FARCE.

"There is not one but what will freely admit liquor is run into the United States by the thousands of cases. There is not one but what will admit that the attempted enforcement of prohibition is a farce.

Men in charge of many stations openly admit their inability to cope with the liquor situation.

If it were not for the thorough cooperation of the Canadian customs and immigration forces with the United States force, much less would be accomplished even, than at present.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Look years younger! Use Grandmother's recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur and nobody will know

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is musty and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Advertisement.

JUDGE WARNS SPEEDERS; FINES MINISTER'S SON

Williamstown, June 23.—Warning that automobile speeding will not be tolerated in Williamstown was given by Judge S. G. Tenney in the local court in the course of a hearing of two charges of auto violation against Percival Carter, son of the Rev. J. Franklin Carter of St. John's Episcopal Church here. Carter was fined $10 for operating an automobile without a license and a charge of driving without lights was filed.

SEEK TO RAISE GAS PRICE IN MANCHESTER

Manchester, N. H., June 22.—William T. Gunnison, chairman of the Public Service Commission, at a hearing on the request of the People's Gas Light Company for an increase in rate from $1.10 to $1.50 per thousand cubic feet, stated that the company has presented a prima facie case. He added, however, that a thorough investigation would be made before the request was granted.

FORCE POSTAL MEN TO RETIRE AT AGE LIMIT

Washington, June 23.—Following an opinion rendered by Attorney-General Palmer, Acting Postmaster-General Koons has notified postal authorities throughout the country that all employes, upon reaching the age of retirement, are, in accordance with the act approved May 22, 1920, automatically separated from the service, whether certified to annuity or not. The retirement act is effective from August 21, 1920.

IRISH RAILWAY STRIKE THREAT IS POSTPONED

London, June 23.—Threat of a strike on the Irish railways was temporarily postponed by manifestoes issued by the Irish Labor Party and the Congress of Trades Unions, according to a dispatch from Dublin. The manifestoes declared the railroaders would remain at work until personally dismissed by the authorities, but would continue to refuse the handling of all munitions in transit.

GREAT U. S. LOSS IN RUSSIA

Refusal to Recognize "Envoy" May Cost Around a Billion and a Half

By International News Service

Washington, June 23.—Refusal to treat with L. C. A. K. Martens, "Ambassador" from Soviet Russia, cost the United States approximately one and a half billions, aside from trade worth millions of dollars annually, according to information disclosed here today.

Martens, this information indicates, came to America armed with the same proposal which Gregory Krassin, Soviet Minister of Trade and Commerce, now conferring with Premiers Lloyd George and Millerand on the subject of re-opening trade, has just made to Great Britain and France, namely, that Soviet Russia acknowledge all Russia's debts to Great Britain and France, provided these countries recognize the Soviet government and cease to make war on it.

Russia owes America approximately a billion and a half dollars, according to the most accurate figures available here. Under the Krassin-Martens plan these obligations are repudiated.

Arriving in the midst of drives upon "undesirables" Martens was discredited and was never really given an opportunity seriously to present his proposal.

Under present circumstances, it is said, the United States not only loses to European nations a great market for American products and a huge volume of Russian raw materials, but also is likely to lose the gigantic sum involved in these loans, or at best, will become a least preferred creditor, to be paid only after Russia has liquidated her obligations to all other nations.

Admirers Crush 'Mary'; 'Doug' to the Rescue

London, June 23.—Douglas Fairbanks had to resort to his movie stunts today to rescue Mary Pickford, his wife, from the great crowd of admirers who trampled on and nearly crushed her at a garden party at Chelsea.

Elbowing his way through the jam, he shouldered his bride and carried her to safety.

Mary was so unnerved that she cancelled the rest of her immediate engagements.

HAVERHILL SHOE CRISIS NEAR

'Settle Peaceably or We'll Close Our Plants,' Employers Tell Workers

Haverhill, June 22.—Industrial paralysis through the closing down of this city's shoe factories and throwing 18,000 workers out of employment threatens as the result of a struggle between the manufacturers and the Shoe Workers' Protective Union over hours of labor.

"You're not working hours enough a week," says the manufacturers to the workers. "We can't compete on deliveries with other manufacturers in other places.

"We want Saturdays off," say the workers to their employers. "If you want to produce more shoes in a shorter time, improve your shop conditions."

"Settle this thing with us peaceably," return the manufacturers, "or we'll close down our shops July 3.

"Close 'em down and we'll hit you through the banks," reply the workers. "By withdrawing our half million dollars of savings deposits. Then we'll see where you'll get the money to do business with."

Meanwhile the rest of the shoe industry throughout New England and the rest of the country watches interestedly the issue of the struggle.

REJECT ULTIMATUM.

The Haverhill Shoe Manufacturers' Association has given the Shoe Workers' Protective Union until Friday to reply to what the manufacturers call a "proposition" and the workers characterize as an "ultimatum."

To "save the shoe industry of Haverhill," the manufacturers say, they want to get together with the men. The turn workers, meeting last night 900 strong, rejected the "proposition" unanimously. Cutters, stitchers and packers meet tonight and are expected to follow suit. About Saturday, the workers say, the manufacturers will come along with an announcement that on July 2 the shops will close indefinitely.

The big complaint of the employers appears to be: "You men do not work enough hours. Closing these shops all day Saturday is a crime. Haverhill is falling behind."

INSIST ON 48-HOUR WEEK.

The workers, on the other hand, show no disposition to give up the forty-five-hour week.

"For the present and for one year to come, the bosses say, they do not ask their people to work for one cent less than the present rate. In Haverhill, they say, prices are higher and hours shorter than in other cities making the same or a better grade of shoes.

"For years," George H. Carter, representing the manufacturers, said to a delegation of union officials, "we in Haverhill have made cheap shoes. During the past year we have made poor shoes. Haverhill has been advertised as having orders for $2,000,000 worth of shoes countermanded.

"One reason is poor shoes. Another is the 45-hour week. With more work shoes would have been delivered on time.

"The first thing a jobber says is 'How are your labor conditions in Haverhill?' Your shoes are the grade I would like, but will I get them? I understand your workers are increasing prices and asking graded prices. I don't see how you can pay it. If you pay more for wages you must take it out of the shoes.'

ASK THAT PRICES STAND.

"The gist of our request to the unions is that they leave price lists as they are. I have made an honest effort to sell my shoes, I said: 'If I have to pay a 25 to 40 per cent. increase I will put it on to the price of my shoes.' I give you my word I could not sell a pair. The only way I could sell was to cut out that extra price. The shoe manufacturers of Haverhill are not in a position to go out and solicit business and unless we get together there will be no business."

Among other suggestions placed before the unions by the manufacturers are:

In June, July, August and September a forty-five-hour week; for the remainder of the year, forty-eight hours.

Price lists to begin uniformly in all factories on June 1.

Six holidays: Christmas, New Year's, May 30, July 4, Labor Day and Thanksgiving. (The workers want all the legal holidays, eleven in number. The manufacturers would compromise by keeping open shop on the five days in dispute and permitting those to work who want to).

TO ABOLISH "PERMITS."

Abolition of the "permit" system, to the end that employers may hire anybody provided he is a member of the union.

Employers to have the right to say how many employes are needed for the proper conduct of the business, either in rush or slack periods.

That manufacturers should teach young people the business without interference of any sort from organizations. (Well enough, say the unionists, but give first chance to your unskilled employes.)

That there be no "union" activity during working hours, such as recruiting for members, collection of dues or distribution of notices.

Regardless of Mr. Carter's statement that there is no thought of a wage reduction until the cost of living tumbles—and certainly not for at least one year—General Agent Joseph C. Guyotte of the Shoe Workers Protective Union declares that the plan outlined calls for a "general reduction." Under the circumstances, Guyotte says, calling mass meetings is a "waste of time."

Some of the unionists call the proposition of the manufacturers an "ultimatum."

"We have submitted to higher prices and shorter hours," the manufacturers say in a statement, "as long as we can afford to do so, and we are resolved to exhaust every means which may lighten this burden, but we are firmly of the opinion that the shoe industry in this city will suffer unless we can receive the whole-hearted co-operation of the shoe workers in our factories."

This statement, some of the more radical workers declare, is a "veiled threat." According to them, it means that the factories will close on July 2 for an indefinite period.

Nine hundred of the 1,800 turn workers, at a meeting last night, rejected the proposition unanimously. The cutters, the stitchers and the packers meet tonight. It was the cutters who inaugurated the forty-five-hour week. They are not ready, they say, to abandon it.

Awaits Message From Prof. Hyslop's Spirit

Mrs. Charles Soule, of Brighton, favored medium of the famous psychic investigator who died recently, is confident that he will communicate with his former associates here from his new life "beyond the veil." She believes that he is already trying to get into touch with this world, and recalls that during his lifetime he anticipated difficulty in this matter. Photo by Marceau, Boston.

Out on Lexington road, Brighton, a bright-eyed little woman listens daily with her spirit attuned for a message which may prove the dead can communicate with the living.

She is Mrs. Charles Soule. She waits for a message from one who has passed. She formerly was the favored medium of Professor James H. Hyslop, the noted psychical research student and friend of the late Professor William James.

DOESN'T DOUBT HIS RETURN.

"I have no more doubt that Dr. Hyslop will return, is even now trying to get his message through, than I have that he once lived and came here to this house, and received messages, through me, from that other world," said Mrs. Soule.

"One sentence of Dr. Hyslop's, particularly, comes to me, as I think of how and when the great man will come back to us. 'My troubles will only just begin after I am dead,' he once laughingly said to me, 'and I may make a worse mess of getting my messages through than others have done.'"

Mrs. Soule then explained. "This may be true—that the doctor will have some trouble in reaching his friends here and making himself known through reliable channels, but I have not the slightest doubt of his desire and courage.

"Given that asset, with a clear and definite purpose on this side, to be as patient and as receptive as he was to those who preceded him into that land to which he is now gone, he will. I know, make a record, as a spirit, which shall exceed, in value, the records of those he sought, in that sacred communion which he held in such high regard."

SKEFFINGTON AT LYNN MEETING

Will Report Tonight to General Electric Workers to Avert Strike

Immigration Commissioner, Henry J. Skeffington will confer with Lynn Metal Trades Council and union shop committees tonight in a final effort to avert a general strike at the Lynn General Electric plant.

If the conference is unsatisfactory, a walkout of 18,000 union employes, which would affect as well the 7,000 unaffiliated workers, may be called for tomorrow morning.

Commissioner Skeffington will make a report on the result of the investigation he began at the plant on last Monday, when he came into the dispute as a volunteer arbiter.

The Lynn unions demand wage increases ranging as high as 30 per cent, the reinstatement of a discharged union employe, and elimination of the time study system.

The time study system was the original grievance of the General Electric workers, and they are expected to refuse to consider any terms which do not promise its abolishment.

Mr. Skeffington has presumably been in conference with company heads during the week, and it is believed he will bring an offer of a compromise. He was in conference today with representatives of 100 winders of the company, whose grievances are much the same as those of the general body of employes.

MISS BRENNAN BRIDE OF DR. RIESER IN NATICK

Natick, June 23.—Guests from Washington and New York were present today at the wedding of Dr. Waldo F. Rieser of Belmont to Marguerite Brennan, a school teacher and daughter of E. F. Brennan, a shoe manufacturer. Priests officiating were Rev. Daniel Mahoney of Holy Cross and Rev. Delaney, Ford, Landrigan and Powers. The bride was attended by Miss Isabelle Brennan, and the best man was Donald McIntosh. Dr. Rieser's gift to the bride was a platinum lavalliere. They will go to California for their honeymoon.

MAYOR VETOES STREET RELAYING ORDINANCE

Mayor Peters today vetoed an ordinance passed by City Council for relaying of street by city employes when such streets are opened by public service corporations. The mayor declared the ordinance would release the contractor from his guarantee on the street as far as the relaid portion is concerned. He said the present form of contract requiring the original contractor to relay the street was the best for the city. He appended a letter from Public Works Commissioner T. F. Sullivan, declaring the new ordinance would require hiring several thousand men.

4 BOYS CHARGED WITH ROBBING MAN OF $800

Brockton, June 23.—Four Brockton boys, nine to thirteen years old, must have been reading stories of how profiteers get rich quick, for, finding William Belcher, a painter, of No. 32 Glenville street, asleep in the woods off Mulberry street, they robbed him of $800. Belcher had withdrawn the money from the bank to meet a bill. The police say he met some friends. Anyway, he fell asleep, awoke to his loss and reported it to the police. The police immediately sought a boy who defaulted in the Juvenile court and found $300 in his pockets. Three other boy companions rounded up accounted for $41.20 more of the $800. The boys will be tried in juvenile court next Tuesday.

WOMEN MAY FIGHT BOTH OLD PARTIES

Washington, June 23.—The National Woman's Party will call a convention of women voters to decide on an election policy, Alice Paul, leader of the militant suffragists, announced today. The convention will decide whether the party will centre its activities in the campaign against the Republicans or indorse a third party and fight both Republicans and Democrats.

A Little Linen Story That Talks Value

The man who buys linens for the House of Hovey recently remarked to a visiting New Hampshire merchant that the same kind of towels we were retailing at $3.50 the dozen were being quoted by Boston wholesalers at $6 the dozen. The New Hampshire man, rather skeptical, could not believe that this was so. He came into the store to see the towels. Well, he knows towels, and he frankly admitted that it was beyond his understanding how such prices were possible.

The above is only an example of Hovey value-giving which is duplicated in every department.

MILLER TUBES LONG OF LIFE

Special Type for Cord Tires Eliminates Wrinkling and Stretching

For a number of years all tire manufacturers have been featuring large cord tires. The riding public has been convinced that over size cords mean increased tire mileage. Tube equipment, however, has only in the rare instance kept pace with tire development. The usual practice being to use a half size larger tube in cords.

But with the advent of the heavy duty cord pneumatic for trucks, the Miller Rubber Company began building special tubes for cord tires in their Akron factories. In the laboratories the great difference between the outer and inner circumference of the big truck size cords was noted. The problem was to prevent the wrinkling of the tubes inner circumference and the expansive stretching of its outer circumference.

The solution was found in building cord type tubes on horse shoe mandrels. In other words, tubes were built on circular mandrels to conform to the shape of the tire, taking into account this difference between the outer and inner circumference of the cord as well as the greater volume size.

AGED CHARLESTOWN MAN KILLED BY FALL

Daniel Taylor, aged 82, of No. 31 Union street, Charlestown, died at the Haymarkett Relief Hospital from a fractured skull which he received by falling to the st ewalk in front of his home during a sick spell. He had been a resident of Charlestown 35 years, and so far as known had no near relatives. He was single.

War Veterans See Auto Shoe Plant Operate

Former service men in New York were exceptionally interested in the fully equipped mobile shoe repair shop that passed through the city on its trip from Beverly Mass., to Washington, where it was to be inspected by army officials with a view to possible adoption by them for use in shoe repairing with Uncle Sam's forces. The truck carried all the necessary machinery to remake shoes at the rate of 800 pairs a day. Goodyear stitcher, nailer, scouring and finishing wheels were connected by a separate motor. The quartermaster crew gave demonstrations along the road, interesting hundreds of men who had worn the army "issue" shoe in this country and abroad.

TIGER FOOT TIRE QUICK SELLER

Farley & MacNeill's "Pay-As-You-Ride Plan" Has Remarkable Success

Farley & MacNeill, New England distributors for Tiger Foot tires and originators of the "pay-as-you-ride plan," for the sale of high grade tires, have in the last year achieved a remarkable success in the sale of Tiger Foot tires in this territory.

For several years this concern has been experimenting with different makes of tires, always with the end in view of discovering a tire, so long-wearing and rugged that they could feel safe in selling them on a deferred payment plan. In order that Farley & MacNeill's "pay-as-you-ride plan" would be successful, it was necessary to make many experiments.

Farley & MacNeill were about ready to give up the "pay-as-you-ride plan" when a representative of the Standard Tire Co. of Willoughby, O., manufacturers of Tiger Foot and Cleveland Standard tires, induced them to give the Tiger Foot line a trial, and the result has been very satisfactory.

PROVIDE SUMMER HOME FOR RUBBER WORKERS

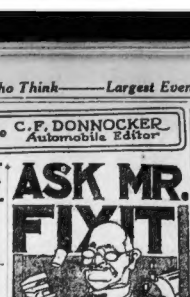
For years the Pennsylvania Rubber Company's welfare department has done much toward making the plant's employees happy and contented.

This year the annual day afield will be held in August. Of greatest import, however, is the recent action of the company in renting for the entire Summer season a large and beautiful cottage at a well-known Summer resort for the convenience of its women employees. The cottage is located on the bathing beach at Put-in-Bay, in close touch with the varied amusements of this resort.

A chaperone has been engaged for the young ladies, and their expenses, as well as the upkeep of the cottage, will be paid by the company.

A schedule of vacation dates has been arranged so that each woman in the employ of the company can spend her vacation at the cottage in company with some of her co-workers.

ASK MR. FIXIT



Dear Mr. Fixit: I have a two-cylinder, two-cycle engine in my motor boat, three feet and six carburetor. It was very hard starting to prime it half a dozen times before it will start. After it gets running it runs very well but occasionally back fires, especially when I cut down the gas supply on the needle valve. The thing which troubles me the most, however, is the fact that after it has run a short time, raw gas collects in the base of the engine and I am obliged to draw it off quite frequently through the pet cock. Now if there is such an accumulation there the engine will not start. I have had the carburetor overhauled by the Schebler people and new valves put in but it does not correct the trouble. Have you any information which will help this trouble? Thanking you in advance for same, Williamsburg, Mass.

Assuming that your carburetor has been put in good working order, I would like to call attention to the fact that you have a high lift set up. You ought to be able to tell this from the loss of compression which would certainly occur. This would probably also account for the starting of your motor.

Dear Mr. Fixit: Could you recommend any good practical books on the electrical end of the automobile for one who has a fair knowledge of electricity in theory and practice? Or as a starting point on the same subject. Also do you know of any automobile agencies which would be willing to take on a salesman for the sale of their factories? Would like to make such a trip as a vacation if possible. Thanking you kindly for anything you may suggest, I am, Malden, Mass.

There are numerous books on the electrical equipment of automobiles, but without any general knowledge, you have to study each one separately. Your best general course would suggest that you get Dyke's Handbook of Automobile Engineering, published by Dyke Engineering Laboratories, Dayton, Ohio. Get their book on the Delco system. Would recommend the Y. M. C. A. as a very good school. A great many agencies are driving cars through, but it is inadvisable for us to give you names through these columns. Would suggest that you write to any of the popular makes.

Dear Mr. Fixit: Kindly let me know through your column whether an inexperienced hand should attempt the wood gassoline. Thanking you in advance for your kindness and attendance to this matter, A WOLLOMBE MECHANIC.

The foot accelerator naturally does not furnish a steady control over the motor as the hand throttle, due to the inequalities of the road surface, which causes the foot to move slightly. Also to the front board, consequently the use of three a new wasting of gas, the accelerator pedal of course is operated by the foot. The accelerator pedal of course is operated by the foot.

DRIVERS MUST AVOID FORBIDDEN TURNS

The heavy line arrows show turns forbidden at Boylston and Tremont streets under Boston's new traffic rules. The turn from Boylston into Tremont for a vehicle coming from the Back Bay district, as indicated by dotted line, is a present on trial and may later be prohibited. Those approaching the busy centre from Washington street may turn north on Tremont street, but not south.

Everybody is urged to co-operate in the tate-wide drive for "safe roads."

Nearly 8,000 persons were injured in automobile accidents during the past six months, and all fautions, motorists, insurance officials and chambers of commerce have joined forces to rid the highway of reckless drivers and educate pedestrians in crossing streets.

One meeting has already been held at the State House by the various forces, and John N. Cole, commissioner of public works, has been appointed to select a committee of nine members to perfect an organization, with the view of making the highways safe.

When the committee is organized it will be the duty of every citizen to report reckless drivers and help solve this civic problem.

A big educational campaign will be conducted through moving pictures, the press and the schools. Particular attention will be paid to reaching school children what precautions to take in crossing the street.

Automobile accidents have been increasing by leaps and bounds. Frank A. Goodwin, State registrar of motor vehicles, says that more than 10,000 were seriously injured last month, fifteen of them killed. In the last six months 7,764 persons were injured.

It is in the congested districts that most accidents occur, according to Goodwin. In the various accidents reported in the last six months, 7,461 were in thickly settled areas and of the total 4,736 were occupants of automobiles and 2,823 were pedestrians.

"There is no doubt," said Goodwin, "that flagrant violations of automobile laws exist. We must put a greater restraint upon operators, must fix a definite speed limit and make requirements stricter before issuing licenses."

Chairman Cole calls upon all citizens to join in the drive by reporting infractions of the law and aiding the educational work. Financial assistance has been pledged by many associations and companies interested.

"We, who are charged with the responsibility of issuing licenses, said Chairman Cole, "will co-operate to the fullest extent, for we are determined to cut the enormous number of accidents."

OVERNIGHT SERVICE ON GOODRICH SOLID TIRES

One of the features of the Goodrich Tire Service Co., the service department of solid truck tires, situated in the heart of the city, this department offers exceptional opportunities for the truck owner. Trucks may be left at night and the work of changing the heavy solid tires be done by morning. No time is lost and this feature is certainly sure to prove attractive to truck users whose time is always valuable.

STONEHAM MAN KILLED BY AUTO AT CROSSING

Patrick H. Dolan, aged 38, of Dale court, Stoneham, was instantly killed when he was struck by an automobile as he was crossing Main street, near Stoneham square. The car is owned and was operated by Frank Vahey, aged 30, of Watertown. Dolan's neck was broken. Vahey was released on bail after reporting to the police, and was arraigned today at Woburn on a technical charge of manslaughter.

Son is Administrator

YES, We Sell TIGER FOOT TIRES

For cash, as well as on our original and helpful

Pay-As-You-Ride Plan

We are prompted to give you this information as we have learned that many people have got the impression that Tiger Foot tires can only be bought on this plan.

LAST WEEK A gentleman from Lewiston, Maine, came into our Store apparently worried—he wanted Tiger Foot tires—but as he said in all his long life he had never bought anything on any kind of an installment plan and he did not want to begin now.

THE REASON he wanted Tiger Foot was the same as we have learned mileage—under the worst possible road conditions.

A FRIEND of the gentleman referred to had, early last Summer, purchased from us on our Pay-as-You-Ride plan, two 36x4½ Tiger Foot Cords and two 36x4½ Fabrics, which he had used continuously ever since on a heavy car through the Winter's snow and the worst Maine roads for a mileage of over 10-thousand and they still look good for another 15,000 miles at least, according to this gentleman, who went home happy after paying cash (without any bargaining as to price) for four Tiger Foot tires.

WE CONSIDER this unusual only because last year's Tiger Foot buyer was credited with being a very rough driver, nearly before having secured 4000 miles from either one of the 5 different makes of standard and supposedly high grade tires he had used. Better lose no time in making the acquaintance of Tiger Foot, for at this rate it comes generally known the Standard Tire Co. will not be able to manufacture one-quarter enough to go around.

WAISTS

The proudsizers still call 'em blouses and charge a few dollars more for 'em.

3.25

These are all samples from a Philadelphia highbrow manufacturer. The original tags are on 'em, marked with his wholesale price per dozen and the lowest price we see on them is 42.00 a dozen, but most of 'em are marked with 43.00, 54.00, 60.00 and 66.00. Some of them are slightly soiled from handling—a few of the Pongees have slight imperfections, but as far as we can see most of 'em are perfect. There are plenty blacks in the lot, besides white, flesh, navy, peach, Copenhagen brown and nearly every color you could think of. Some strictly tailored, some silk embroidered, some beaded. Also a lot of new stripe tub silks. Exactly 3½ of 'em.

No mail orders, as they'll be gone before a letter could reach us.

Mexico in Revolution

—BY—

Vincente Blasco Ibanez

IV. MEXICO'S SORROW (Continued).

The "cultivation of incidents," as well as the delight, was also the supreme talent of Don Venustiano. When he received some demand from the United States he must have smiled as a boxing master smiles when he sees an opening for a tap on his pupil's jaw. "Why, here is another incident just as things were getting dull. I must cultivate it carefully. If I manage right, I can stick in the world's headlines for a month or more."

Diplomatic proceedings in court have their delays and postponements. I do not know the usual time allotted for replying to a diplomatic communication. Call it ten days; it was ten days of keen amusement and anticipation for don Venustiano. First he would see Cabrera, his Mephistopheles, and then would call a council of "licenciados," "doctors-of-law," professional squabblers of the district courts, expert in noting out the trivial excuse, the fan'astic objection, the microscopic point of legality. Their masterpiece of deliberate absurdity would be early on the tenth day, and it would reach Washington at two minutes before midnight. "Fifty years ago and again one hundred years ago, the United States government took the position now maintained by the Mexican republic...." The answer would be always in such terms.

Washington, irritated at the delay, would immediately reply: "Omitting your review of ancient precedents, kindly give a definite answer to the demand now in question."

Another smile of Don Venustiano. Another council of "licenciados." Another interval of ten days.

And then: "In reply to note one thousand three hundred and seventy-seven, we beg to point out that on the point it raises, the United States Supreme Court ruled in 1827"——

Weeks and even months would go by in this nervous expectation. A matter that two serious business men could have settled in five minutes would assume the proportion of a world crisis. Newspapers would issue extras. People in the United States would begin to speculate on the chances of war. Parties in Mexico would talk of getting together to resist intervention, likely to break on the following day.

Meanwhile in the presidential palace in the Mexican capital a venerable old man would be winking slyly behind a pair of blue glasses and stroking a white beard in wise satisfaction.

Don Venustiano would always yield in the end, before public tension became overstrained and the game got too dangerous. He would do simply what he had been asked in the first place; but it would be thought in Mexico that he had done much less and that, thanks to his energy and skillful diplomacy, the American invasion had been stopped on the threshold of the country and at little cost to the dignity of the nation.

CREDIT TO CARRANZA.

The "old man" knew what he was about, and he knew his people well. It have heard his worst relentless foes say of him: "Old Whiskers is a——— cad here the worst of epithets and the most atrocious slander), "but you've got to give him credit for one thing, he's a patriot, and he has kept the Yankees out many times. No one could handle the international situation better."

And Carranza's admirers would imagine in all good faith that in Washington, President, Cabinet, Senate and House were seeing with terror a kind of Pancho Villa, red-and-green nose, the white beard and the ogre-like smile of don Venustiano.

That is the way with Mexicans. They escape from the cruel realities which surround them by caressing the illusion that they are first in something. This can be explained in Cabrera's complacent disparagement of Chile and Argentina, the iron heel that is oppressing Cuba, the tyrannical suppression of English upon Havana's schools, and the flight of American citizenship before the terrible Carranza.

USE JITNEYS ON CAPE ANN

Trolleyless, People Refuse to Give in to the Eastern Massachusetts

Gloucester, June 23.—The people of Cape Ann, deprived of street car facilities when the stockholders of the Eastern Massachusetts decided to quit, continued today to patronize jitney buses, ride with accommodating motorists or travel in passenger trucks rigged up by their employers. There appeared to be less disposition than ever to "give in to the railway."

Without the familiar clang of the trolley gong, the districts of Lanesville, Bay View and Annisquam Cove are like a pig deserted village.

According to one member of the city government, "Cities may not voluntarily returned to us without extra cost there is as little likelihood that trolley cars will ever again be seen on the streets of Gloucester as there is that Warren Gamaliel Harding and Calvin Coolidge will be nominated by the Democratic National Convention.

"Paying the highest tax rate in years, the people of Gloucester are not able to stand a further assessment of $2 on the thousand for the relief of holders of watered street railway stock."

Citizens of Rockport voted last night in special town meeting to license motor buses operating to and from Gloucester. Until this morning the Gloucester buses ran only to the Rockport line, and thence to Long Beach. Hereafter, they will "make" Pigeon Cove and Rockport, and re-establish service "around the Cape."

Filene's—VALUES around the world

WHEN we opened our mail yesterday we found a letter from Tientsin, China. And because what folks say about a store is stronger advertising than what a store says about itself, we produce a clause from the opening paragraph! "Although we have credit in shops in Italy, France, England, New York, San Francisco and Seattle, we send to you almost without exception, as your goods are always satisfactory as to price and quality." It may interest you to know that the bill the letter was written about was for $326.28.

More than three hundred dollars' worth of Filene values must have stood for some little saving to the lady in Tientsin who passed up three other American cities and three foreign countries, all nearer to China than Filene's. That the VALUE MERIDIAN passes through Filene's is shown by many other instances of far-distant shoppers in our letter files.

FINNERAN QUIZZES LONG, THEN BOOMS COL. GASTON

By CHARLES O. POWER.

Scandia, Kan., June 23.—The boom for Colonel William A. Gaston for Governor of Massachusetts was brought to the front on the Yankee special to the Democratic National Convention after leaving Omaha, Neb. The man in charge of the boom is Francis X. Finneran of Boston, president of the State Democratic Club.

While Richard H. Long was with the party Mr. Finneran refrained from attempting to advance the cause of his favorite. He was very considerate of the feelings of the South Framingham manufacturer, who has twice been the candidate against Calvin Coolidge. The only reference made by him to the coming State fight was a question he asked Mr. Long as to whether he was going to try to make the party give him another nomination, to which Mr. Long replied that he would answer that question when he felt like it.

The booster for Colonel Gaston says his man would take the nomination if it should come to him in the right way and that he could be elected. He does not believe that Mr. Long would be such a popular candidate as the colonel.

Mr. Finneran knows a lot of distinguished people and knows them by their first names. When he shook hands with former senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois he casually remarked: "Hello, Ham, your whiskers are not so pink as they were the last time I met you." The statesman refused to argue the point.

GREETS GERARD AND COBB.

When the Boston man sauntered up to former Ambassador James W. Gerard and gripped his hand his greeting was: "Hello, Jim, how are all the rest of the movie stars?" Meeting Irvin Cobb just as if he was an old crony he said to the humorist: "How are you, Irvin? Come along and I'll introduce you to some of the boys." But Irvin did not budge, suggesting that he was going to meet the boys in his own way.

Theodore Francis Greene of Providence and Finneran had a hot debate on President Wilson and his policies and they are not on speaking terms now.

Thomas J. O'Connor of Holyoke, for several years city solicitor of that city, formally introduced Mr. Gerard to the delegates and other travelers at an impromptu rally in the buffet car and the man who talked back to the Kaiser made a little speech.

First he declared frankly that he was a bona fide candidate for the nomination for President at San Francisco. If he does not receive that he will be glad to take the second place. He does not care for either nomination for personal reasons, but is merely lending himself to the effort that is being made, he says, to promote a spirit of harmony at the convening and submerge all differences for the good of the party. He favors a league of nations, not necessarily any particular league, but one that will conserve all American rights, such a league as he believes the convention will fully prove capable of framing.

He urged the delegates to fight for what he believes to be for the best interest of the party and the people at the convention, but if defeated to be good sports and join with the majority and support the platform and the candidates. Gerard was interrupted by Senator Patrick J. Murphy of Newport, R. I., who asked him how he stood on a plank for beer and light wines. He replied that was a matter for the convention to consider carefully, and whatever its decision that should be the campaign law of the party. Personally he thought it might be wise to have the present law a fair trial.

Senator Murphy declared that no one wants a return of the corner saloon, but what, he would like to know, is the sense of depriving the hard laboring man from having his nice long cool drink of beer and ale on a hot day. Where is the fair play in such a state of affairs as that, and who has the right to take away a man's personal liberty and tell what he shall not drink and who gave it to whom?

Mr. Gerard said he had not the time to enter into a discussion of all the elements of the drinking question, but in a side remark he said that in his opinion the hard working man was getting along pretty well under existing conditions and was not making half as much holler about the loss of his malt beverages as some folks who are not tireless workers in the field of manual endeavor.

WOMEN DON'T MIX.

The Rhode Island women delegates and the Massachusetts women alternates are not mixing. The distinction between the delegate and the mere alternate is being sharply drawn. There are two women regulars and five substitutes in the Rhode Island delegation and twelve women alternates in the Bay State delegation, but not a single top notcher, and besides the question of delegate standing the Rhode Island women are strong on State pride. When the proposition was put to them to organize with the Massachusetts women and work with them for benefit legislation for women and children and to curb the profiteers, they politely made negative answer.

While they indorsed the principles involved, they could not be loiners in an organization with a sister from Massachusetts because they purpose to work as delegates in the convention and not simply as women. They will, however, be glad to join with the women delegates from all the States in a strictly female organization for the consideration of economic and political questions by the convention and with all women in the convention city, whether delegates or not, for the consideration of social questions from the moral point of view. That is how matters stand with the women.

The regular delegates thoroughly appreciate their responsibilities and their stations as politicians and party leaders. They know their place as contrasted with that of alternates and, knowing, dare maintain it.

In an interview with an Omaha newspaper man Congressman James A. Gallivan of Boston said yesterday: "Massachusetts Democrats were for a wet plank and against a League of Nations. Senator David I. Walsh of the State delegation is determined to carry these two issues to the floor of the convention if the resolutions committee ignores them. The entire delegation is 'wet' and against the league."

EXPECT BRYAN TO NAME CLARK

Coup for Missourian Is Planned at San Francisco, It Is Reported

Washington, June 23.—William Jennings Bryan is planning a coup for Champ Clark when the psychological moment comes at San Francisco.

This interesting and unexpected turn in the Democratic political situation is strongly indicated in some highly significant developments of the last few days.

Those on the inside of the move are extremely reticent about discussing what actually has transpired. They admit, however, that it would not surprise them to see Bryan reverse his action of 1912.

This much is known: Mahon friends of Bryan and Clark have made overtures to the latter to see if his attitude on the outstanding issues is such that Bryan could consistently back him.

The "big question" to be settled in advance, it is understood, is whether Clark would favor a plank in the platform declaring for ratification of the League of Nations covenant "with reservations." If Clark holds this view, according to the understanding here, Bryan, who strongly opposes President Wilson's demand for ratification of the treaty as he brought it back from Paris, would have solid ground to stand on in Champ Clark's cause before the convention.

Harding Disappoints Woman Suffragists

By International News Service.

Washington, June 23.—Home-coming day at Marion, Ohio, July 4, is calling Senator Warren G. Harding, Republican Presidential nominee.

Senator Harding will go as one of the "home comers" and not as the presidential candidate. He has declared that not until after his formal speech of acceptance on July 22 will he engage in formal public functions or speeches.

Suffragists are much disappointed because Harding refused to open calling of the legislatures in Connecticut or Vermont.

Miss Nilsson's Beauty Secrets

Anna Q. Nilsson, the wonderful motion picture actress, who is writing a series of articles on beauty secrets soon to appear in this paper, says that a beautiful rosy-white skin and complexion is the very best asset any girl or woman can have. She further states that the best and quickest way to obtain this is to use a simple toilet preparation, familiar to every well known actress. It is called Derwilla and can be obtained at the toilet counter of any up-to-date drug or department store. This wonderful derma is used by over five hundred thousand discriminating girls and women throughout the country and is rapidly becoming a regular fad. It takes the place of face powder, stays on better and its use cannot be detected. Perspiration does not affect it and it will not rub off or soil anything. Derwilla is especially recommended for dark, sallow, rough skin, freckles, wrinkles and many other facial blemishes. Be sure to read Miss Nilsson's next article. In the meantime get Derwilla and try it today, you are sure to be delighted.

A Simple Way To Remove Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Advertisement.

PLAGUE CAUSES MORE DEATHS AT VERA CRUZ

Vera Cruz, June 23.—Coastwise traffic, which was partially suspended because of the bubonic plague outbreak, was fully resumed today. Two deaths and two new suspected cases of the plague were reported Tuesday. The doctors handling the plague situation say they are satisfied with the progress made, but continued rainfall is hampering their work.

BOSTON TO HAVE OPERA IN FALL

Gaston Borch, New Impresario, Promises Good Programs in English

By FRED J. McISAAC.

Opera in English is to have another chance in this city next Fall, though the Boston English Grand Opera company will not return. The newest impresario in Gaston Borch, who was assistant conductor at the performances at the Arlington last Fall.

Mr. Borch very properly asserts that the cause of opera will not be assisted by giving the public bad performances, and he affirms, with much truth, that popular-priced performances in the past have made people say: "If this be opera, give us the movies."

NEEDS $9,000 WEEKLY.

I met Mr. Borch for the first time when he came into the music editor's office the other day carrying an impresario's smile, cane, and a trace of foreign accent, all desirable to give tone.

According to his statement he is prepared to put on opera with a orchestra of fifty good, complete and also charming singers, whose brackets are his own, in a first-class theatre, and he estimates that his costs to break even is $9,000 a week.

When you realize that the "Polo" played to $40,000, that "Mary" ob bats for $25,000, you can see what modest basis Mr. Borch's opera is based upon.

In addition to this the National Opera Company, formed by Mr. Borch and friends, is a co-operative company, shares being held by all members, chorus, orchestra and principals alike.

PLAN TO OPEN OCTOBER 18.

They plan to open on October 18 with a performance of "Aida," and have a repertory of twelve operas for Boston.

I am inclined to agree with Mr. Borch that good opera can be given in the way he estimates, but it will require an impresario who combines a knowledge of music, familiarity with artistic temperament and a fine head for figures to do it successfully. I do not know if Mr. Borch is such a man, but he has initiative anyway, and his scheme is worth attention.

FIRE CHIEF CAN ORDER BUILDINGS CLEANED

Haverhill, June 23.—The Municipal Council has accepted the law which empowers Fire Chief John B. Gordon to enter buildings and order the owners to clean them up to minimize fire hazards on a penalty of from $10 to $50 a day.

Tea Time Tips

Never Use a Cold Tea Pot

The pot should be well warmed with boiling water before the leaves are put in. Try it the next time and note the difference in the flavor of your tea. But you will find a greater difference, when, instead of asking your grocer for "tea," you ask for, get and use

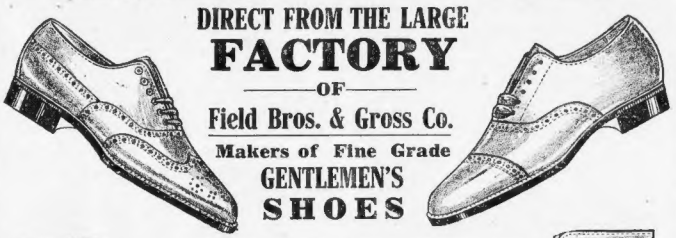
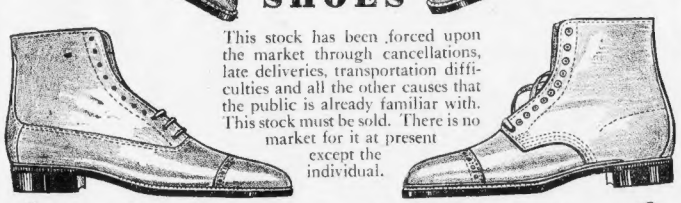
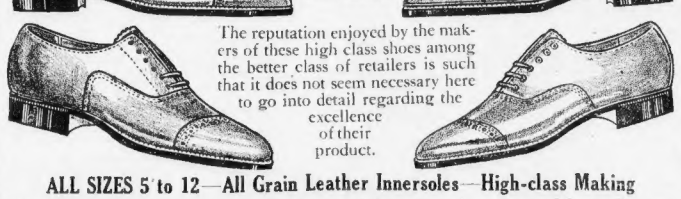
SHOES



This stock has been forced upon the market through cancellations, late deliveries, transportation difficulties and all the other causes that the public is already familiar with. This stock must be sold. There is no market for it at present except the individual.



The reputation enjoyed by the makers of these high class shoes among the better class of retailers is such that it does not seem necessary here to go into detail regarding the excellence of their product.



ALL SIZES 5 to 12—All Grain Leather Innersoles—High-class Making

We show in this announcement of sale several styles in Men's Shoes. There are many others in all fashionable leathers and weights.

The average business man understands that these factory sales cannot be interpreted as meaning that shoes will be lower in price. That is not so. It costs as much to make shoes now as it did for many months past, and as far as future costs are concerned there is nothing to indicate that they will be lower than they have been for some months past. Labor and leathers are not coming down. When these cancellation stocks are sold the present high retail prices will prevail. ALL SALES FINAL—NO MAIL ORDERS.

BURDEN LOSS MAY COST HARVARD BIG CREW RACE WITH YALE

HAVE NO SUB FOR PLACE

Unable to Find Oarsman Who Can Follow Stroke of Jenney

Gale's Ferry, Ct., June 23.—The illness of Jimmy Barden, one of the strongest oars in the Harvard varsity eight, has cast a dispersion on the situation in the Crimson rowing camp. He has been out of the boat for three days, and has by no means improved from the attack of painful boils which made it impossible for him to manage his slide and row a satisfactory oar last Saturday.

It may be ready so that he will get into the shell for the four-mile race Friday afternoon but he has been out of training for three days and is hardly in a real condition to undergo the strain involved.

No other oarsman in the squad has been found who can follow the stroking of Reginald Jenney, the 205-pound youngster who has been selected to pass back the pace in the first varsity eight.

Jenney is the lightest stroke on a big crew observed on the river and unless No. 7 can be found who can pick up the gait which Jenney passes back there will be a break in the stroke and the lack of arm will be disastrous.

Coach Haines recently put a short stroke and Barden has followed it admirably.

Reginald Kane is nearly a foot taller than Jenney and it is exceedingly difficult for him even in addition at No. 7 to get the stroke which Jenney is making. A decision will be reached by Coach Haines today regarding the permanent occupancy of the seat.

Harvard is leaving for oarsmen in all respects the strongest crew for its race with Yale tomorrow. While Yale came here fully equipped with substitutes for their crew including four varsity and two freshmen oarsmen it would be only two class and two varsity oarsmen.

It was planned to make this race a feature of the graduation week-end on the river but the passage of the Harvard crew is at the mercy of the today.

In the Yale camp despite the shakeups which took place in every crew during the last few days the Blue oarsmen were here every detail is set and they are confident that they will be on the very top round of physical condition.

Both the Yale and Harvard camps were deserted Saturday when the rowing officials were also on hand at the training quarters at New Haven and Cambridge.

HOWARD DREW ENTERS FOR OLYMPIC TRIALS

Chicago, June 23.—More than 200 athletes are expected to participate in the Olympic tryouts for the University of Chicago field heavily. Howard Drew, the former Brown star and holder of many records, is the most prominent entrant. Nearly all of the ranking athletes of the Western Conference are entered.

TILDEN AGAIN WINS IN BRITISH TENNIS

Hagen and Barnes in London Golf

London, June 23.—Walter Hagen and Jim Barnes, the American professionals, took part in the qualifying competition for the British open golf championship at St. George's Hill, Weybridge, and at Burhill, Walton-on-Thames, today.

The round was played today and another is on for tomorrow. Seventy-two professionals attempt to qualify for the championship tournament which is to be played at Ideal, June 30 and July 1.

This is the first open championship staged since 1914, and in consequence is attracting a large degree of interest. There are altogether, 155 professionals entered and a strenuous struggle for the title is assured.

PRINCETON LEADING COLLEGE GOLFERS

Glen Cove, N. Y., June 23.—Princeton golfers were in the lead at the end of the first day's play for the team championship of the Inter-collegiate Golf Association over the links of the Nassau Country Club here. Princeton was in with 370 for four men over 36 holes as did Yale with 377. Other scores were: Harvard 387, Dartmouth 401, Williams 402, Cornell 413, Colgate 417, Columbia 418, Cornell 711 and Penn 742.

BOSTON GIRL TENNIS STAR IN BIG MATCH

Detroit, Mich., June 23.—The second round in the women's national play court tennis tournament will be played this afternoon. The chief match to be between Miss Phillips Ewer of Cleveland and Mrs. Mary Thorpe of Boston. Detroit players were eliminated in the first round yesterday when Miss Jane Bancroft of St. Louis defeated Mrs. E. Morse of this city, and Miss Zoldie Stein defeating Mrs. H. Lowe.

HARRY MILLER HERE SEEKING RING CLASHES

Harry Miller, who won a lot of honors in Greater Boston rings as an amateur in the days before the war is back in our midst again. Miller has been out over with the American army. His home is now in Detroit, but he has come to Boston again and feels sure that he is capable of beating a lot of perfectly good middleweights in this part of the country.

Norfolk Open Golf

The open tournament at the Norfolk Golf Club, originally scheduled for Friday and Saturday of this week has been put over until July 15 and 17. Play will be permitted either day, and as open competition something new for this club is to be tried there will be a large turnout.

TAD'S TIDBITS

THE GREATEST FIGHTER HE EVER SAW

The other night we ran into a bunch of century plants, who have been watching leather pushers since they went barefooted. Among the plants was Arthur Lumley, known to all old-timers as a writer on things pugilistic.

Arthur believes that the fighters of today are great. He says they train better and take more care of themselves than the old timers did, yet he figures that there were a number of old-timers who would have knocked the 1920 crop kicking in no time.

"There were in my day Sullivan, Dempsey and McAuliffe," said Lumley, striding at the in respect of years he was tearing by, "great men I guess, and a good no any at all. I ever saw, but there was another fellow who was a terror. 'Fiddler' Neary was this fellow's name, and he never trained any harder than a week sergeant at police headquarters.

He was just a fighter. He cared nothing about condition, but in a fight he was a terror. This fellow used to fight ten and twelve times a night. Can you beat that? He used to make the rounds of the clubs and take on anyone near his weight as long as he could get some change. His first stop of an evening would be Harry Lyle's old joint, then he'd go to Gorney Geoghan's, then to Billy Merliss's Armory Hall.

"Some nights he'd knock out five or six. Then 'Fiddler' would sport around the rest of the night and flirt with the merry muchlage until he was broke. He usually ended up in 'Braitown,' Brooklyn, saloons.

"Some nights after a tough evening before Neary would start out to get more money, and in his first three starts would be knocked out. That made no difference to him, however, for after losing he would sail along to the other boxing hals, and win two or three poes to even up the bu.' He was just a fighter. Loved it and would take it for breakfast, dinner and supper if he could."

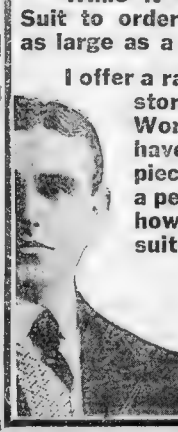
June Is a Serge Month!

I am making a special effort to clean out every yard of serge I have in stock. I have twenty pieces left of a fifty-piece lot of genuine Blue Serge, bought by me to sell at a price of $30.

While it lasts I offer you Blue Serge Suit to order, and I don't care if you are as large as a whale, at a price of $15.75



I offer a range of ends, the accumulation from my different stores, that I have placed in my Boston store. Worsteds, Cheviots, Tweeds and Novelties, some have enough for two-piece, some enough for three-piece suits, some are absolutely all wool, some have a percentage of cotton. I don't care how big you are, the price on these suits will be $15.75

BERGER

VARIATIONS---Berg, Bergman, Bergmann.

RACIAL ORIGIN---German.

SOURCE --- Geographically descriptive.

PROBABLY a greater number of family names crystallized geographically in Germany than in any other country. Berger and its variations fall within this classification.

Students of the histories of surnames have ascribed many reasons to this peculiarity of Germany's nomenclature, but the most logical explanation of it appears to be in the fact that throughout the most of that land, with the exception of those sections of the North where the Scandinavian influence predominated, there existed nothing in medieval and ancient times in the way of tribal nomenclature or organization. There is no doubt that tribal organization and the custom of its members bearing in the name of some form as a distinguishing mark gave rise [illegible] to the more modern system of surnames.

Surnames did not become common throughout the several countries [illegible] for they were established [illegible] in northern and western sections of Europe and were [illegible] first necessary for surnames did not [illegible] to [illegible] prior [illegible] reason of tribal [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] in the way of subdivision in the [illegible] of [illegible] among the nobility or [illegible] [illegible] them [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Cheap, quick way to stop rheumatism

Try toning your digestive and eliminative organs with NR. Free your body from poisonous waste and relief is quick.

One Day's Test Proves NR Best

Are you willing to be convinced that stiff, sore, aching joints of muscles can be relieved and rheumatism and kindred pains be positively conquered, for the insignificant sum of 25 cents?

Sounds too good to be true, doesn't it, yet thousands of people who used the formula below found that it can be done, and thousands more are doing it today.

You've tried the high priced and expensive things, found that they failed,—you still have your trouble, now try this cheap, simple, economical, gas producing tablet and let results speak for themselves?

Just get a 25c box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and begin taking it tonight. It acts on the digestive and eliminative organs, improving digestion and assimilation and cleansing the body of accumulated waste, impurities and poisons. With good digestion and assimilation, the body is nourished and vitality and natural power of resistance against disease greatly increased. With the kidneys and bowels acting vigorously and regularly, and the system freed from irritating poisons, relief must come.

Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) though mild and gentle in action, does its work thoroughly and quickly. There is nothing harmful in it, nothing to upset the stomach, and no griping, pain or any discomfort. The only result is pleasant gladness, welcome relief and benefit.

You can also take no risk in doing so for Nature's Remedy costs only 25c a box, at druggists the world over, and is sold with the distinct understanding that it must relieve and benefit or money back.

More than one million people in this country are using Nature's Remedy today. Five million boxes are used every year. What better proof of its great merit could be offered? It is mild, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist?

Lift Off Corns!

Doesn't hurt! Lift touchy corns and calluses right off with fingers

Apply a few drops of "Freezone" upon that old, bothersome corn. Instantly that corn stops hurting. Then shortly you lift it right off, root and all, without pain or soreness.

Hard corns, soft corns, corns between the toes, and the hard skin callouses on bottom of feet lift right off—no humbug!

Tiny bottles of "Freezone" cost but a few cents at drug stores

GET RID OF YOUR FAT

Thousands of others have gotten rid of theirs WITHOUT DIETING OR EXERCISING, often at the rate of over a pound a day and WITHOUT PAYMENT until reduction has taken place.

I am a licensed practicing physician, and personally select the treatment for each individual case, thus enabling me to choose remedies that will produce not only a loss of weight harmlessly, but which will also relieve you of all the troublesome symptoms of overstoutness such as shortness of breath, palpitation, indigestion, rheumatism, gout, asthma, kidney trouble and various other afflictions which often accompany overstoutness.

My treatment will relieve that depressed, tired, sleepy feeling, giving you renewed energy and vigor, a result of the loss of your superfluous fat.

You are not required to change in the slightest from your regular mode of living. There is no dieting or exercising. It is simple, easy and pleasant to take.

If you are overstout, do not postpone, but sit down right now and send for my FREE TRIAL TREATMENT and my plan whereby I am to be PAID ONLY AFTER REDUCTION HAS TAKEN PLACE if you so desire.

CARSON HILL IS EARLY LEADER

Boston Market Dull and Irregular All the Forenoon; Quiet Session On Curb

It was the old story on the Boston Exchange at the opening, the market being dull, fluctuations narrow and the movement irregular. Carson Hill was one of the few issues to show animation in early trading. The market dragged along during the forenoon and the majority of stocks to change hands were around a parity level. After being traded in on this exchange for years, Pacific Mills stock issues now been formally listed. In the last half of the morning Island Creek became prominent and advanced. Simms Magneto, which has been strong of late, was in the recessional list. Warren Brothers common continued to sag. The two last named were off a point before noon.

Among issues to decline a fraction were Copper Range, New Haven, United Shoe, National Leather, Greenfield Tap, Anglo American, Libby, Swift & Co., Bigheart and Amoskeag.

Gains of a point or more were made by American Woolen preferred, Island Creek, St. Mary's Land and Carson Hill, while fractionally higher issues included Massachusetts Gas, Eastern Manufacturing, International Cement, Mexican Investment and Boston Elevated.

CURB MARKET WAS NARROW.

The curb market had a subdued beginning, and business on this bourse was narrow. Eureka was the most active stock at the opening, with Boston and Montana and Crystal next. The trend was indefinite. Strong stocks at the start included Eureka and Reed Metals, while weak ones were Universal Silver, Arizona Tip Top and Alaska Juneau.

At the end of an hour Eureka was off on the tape one point, Boston & Montana 1 cent at 67 cents and Albany Divis ¼ at 115-16. Crystal had advanced 2 cents to 40 cents and Seven Metals 1 cent to 12 cents.

BOSTON FINANCIAL NOTES.

The National Manufacturing Co. has declared a quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on the preferred stock, payable July 1 to stock of record June 24.

H. H. Hatter of Hardee, Stone & Co. resigned from the board of directors of the Gaffey-Gallagher Corporation.

For the first quarter of this year the Consolidated Rubber reports a net profit of $597,916 as against a net deficit of $437,-000 for the corresponding period 1919. For the operating year ended March 31 the operating expenses increased $212,000.

The Utah Metal & Tunnel Co. has declared a quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent and an extra of 2½ per cent, payable July 1 to holders of record June 21.

A Butte dispatch states that Davis Daly has closed a five hedge of ore which is five feet wide and strikes through the property of the Butte & Ramsdell; a narrow strip of the Davis Daly ground is also involved. Davis-Daly, which will be worked through Butte-Ramsdell on lower very advantageous terms.

It is figured that second quarter gross by the United Drug Co. will be at the rate of more than $70,000,000. For the first quarter the gross sales reported were $56,260, an increase of $9,634,885 when compared with the same period in the preceding 1919 period.

The Northwestern Miami Development Co. has drilled down 2,100 feet on its oil lead leases in Young County, Texas.

MONEY IS HIGH; PRICES LOWER

New York Market Improves in First Hour and Reacts in Second

By W. H. ROSS.
Financial Editor.

Stocks were irregular in New York at noon, having reacted in the second hour. Up to mid-morning the trend was upward. When 8 per cent. was asked for call loan renewals the market reacted a little. A rally followed and a majority of issues showed gains. Trading was listless, first hour transactions totalling around a hundred thousand shares. In the foreign exchange market demand sterling opened at 3.93⅞ or ⅛ off.

Strongest stocks included Industrial Alcohol, Crucible, Barrett, Corn Products and Famous Players. They were up from one to two points. Among the weakest were Beet Sugar and Royal Dutch. They were off a point or more. Most declines were fractional.

LITTLE CHANGE AT OPENING.

The market showed little change at the opening either in prices or in character. It was quiet and fluctuations were narrow. The early movement was upward, but not forceful. Most of the advances were immaterial. Chemical and Colonial issues moved fractionally from one to three points. Barrett doing the best. The day's final figure market had a little better tone than at the outset yesterday. Stocks were not on sale offered and some people said selling had been overdone. Liberty bonds ruled a shade lower. Steels rallied quickly. While the list was irregular as to changes at the beginning, the majority of issues were up at the end of half an hour and the market could then be called fairly strong.

TRADERS ARE WAITING.

A dull and indecisive market is looked for this week and possibly during next week. After the San Francisco ticket is named and the platform battle is over the speculative fraternity will then have a more decided opinion as to what will be done at the polls in November and a dissolving of election results by the stock market may be expected to begin. Another "coal strike" is hampering rail operations and consequently business of all kinds. This is a bearish influence of great weight. There is hope that the Labor Board will grant disatisfied employes a wage increase at once. This will reduce rail earnings and depress the value of rail securities. Until the Interstate Commerce Commission decides what freight rate increases are to be allowed carriers, owners of the stocks and bonds of the latter will be inclined to liquidate holdings. Railroad employes and rail investors are suffering because of Washington delays. Employers can strike, but investors have no means of retaliation.

Railroads Losing Money

Roads in the East and West lost money in April but those in the South fared better, according to figures made public by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Southern roads had a net balance for the month of $2,888,915, while Eastern roads had a deficit of $14,729,888 after taxes and Western roads went $3,284,582 behind. Operating revenues in the Eastern district were $137,686,772 and operating expenses $123,157,076. In the Southern district operating revenues were $70,635,934 and expenses $64,619,-165 and in the Western district operating revenues were $131,764,979 and expenses $124,542,854.

Bought by Wm. A. Read & Co.

William A. Read & Co. have purchased Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. bonds and will shortly offer to the public $5,000,000 of its 15-year 7 per cent. first mortgage collateral issue which is due July 1, 1935. It is stated that the net income of the corporation for the past five calendar years has averaged nearly four and one-half times the annual interest charges and the company has paid dividends of 8 per cent. on its outstanding stock since 1904.

Corporation Earnings

The Erie Railroad reports for the four 1920 quarters, operating revenue of $23,758,184, operating deficit $2,470,885, net income $651,-915, deficit $284,666.

Regarding the Dolcet Manufacturing Company it is understood that its net after taxes and available for dividends for four months ended April 30, was at annual rate in excess of $2,000,000.

Sales during May by the Pingly Wright Corp., amounted to $2,498,887, an increase of about $500,000 over April gross. The company had 200 stores in operation on June 5, including the twenty-six opened in Washington in May.

Copper Market Unsettled

The copper market has been unsettled by the prices quoted by some small dealers. They contend that much metal at the figures they name, but they are so much below quotations by large selling interests that consumers are holding off.

City and County Loans

Melrose, Mass., will receive bids until 12 noon, Thursday, June 24, for the purchase, at discount, of a temporary loan of $70,000, maturing $40,000 October 27, and $30,000 December 16, 1920.

Barnstable County, Mass., will receive bids until 11 a. m., July 7, for the purchase of $13,000 Barnstable Infirmary coupon bonds, dated July 1, 1920, and maturing $1,000 from 1921 to 1933, inclusive.

Cotton Market

New York, June 23.—The cotton market ignored outside news and was governed entirely by weather and crop advices, advancing 5 to 25 points at the opening. The principal factor was heavy rains in parts of Georgia and Texas. During the first twenty minutes the last rose 30 to 45 points over last night's close. Opening prices were: June, offered 28.00 bid, 28.30; July, 28.80 bid, 29.00 asked; 28.20 bid; December, 28.87; January, 28.12; February, 28.80; March, 28.70; May, 31.00 bid.

LARGE EARNINGS FOR WILLYS-OVERLAND CO.

Net earning by the Willys-Overland Co. for the first four months of 1920, after deducting repairs and maintenance of properties and all other expenses, including interest, but before allowance for income and excess profits tax, are understood to have been $8,595,198. The new financing secured, consummated, together with liquidation of large inventories accumulated during 1919, will result in a substantial reduction in the company's interest payments.

New income for the first four months' period, after making allowance for income and excess profits, was in excess of $4,000,000. This is at the rate of approximately $12,000,000 a year after taxes, which is more than double the earning rate heretofore reported by the company.

Current earnings, after making full provision for preferred stock, are approximately 20 per cent. upon the outstanding and newly issued common stock. Current dividend distributions of the common stock upon a 4 per cent basis, or approximately one-fifth of earnings applicable.

U. S. GOVERNMENT BUYS MORE AMERICAN SILVER

The latest purchase of American silver by Director of the Mint Baker is 1,700,000 ounces which are to be delivered at San Francisco and for which 1.1 an ounce will be paid. Recently the American Smelting & Refining Co. sold the government 1,500,-000 ounces. It is said that other purchases total 600,000 ounces and more will follow. All the buying is under the Pittman act regulating the price and requiring coinage.

It is understood, however, that as no time is specified for coinage, much of the silver now bought will be stored at mints until currency requirements warrant its being turned into circulating medium.

MEASURES THAT WOULD CURE MOST OF THE TROUBLES AND TENDENCIES WHICH DISTRESS AND ALARM US TODAY

(1) To nominate for the Presidency by direct nomination and to elect by popular vote.
(2) To elect the Cabinet officers and makethem responsible to Congress.
(3) To deprive the President of the power of patronage; to put all public offices as nearly as possible under Civil Service, and have appointments made by a committee of Congress.
(4) To elect Federal Judges, including the Supreme Court Justices, by popular vote.
(5) To apply the Initiative, the Referendum and the Recall to national matters.

Mr. Bryan's Challenge to the Democratic Convention Is to the Point

William J. Bryan, in many respects one of the Warwicks of the Democratic party, issues a challenge to the coming Democratic convention at San Francisco. It is very brief because it addresses only the great issues. But we fear that the Democratic convention will not be able to reply to this challenge.

Mr. Bryan says:

The Democratic convention is not far off, and a number of Democrats are offering themselves as candidates—they are not making a canvass for delegates, but are EAGERLY RECEPTIVE. Strange that none of them have seen fit to outline a platform or announce their position on public questions. Why? Do they think themselves so superior to platforms that issues cut no figure? Or do they think there are no issues? Or are they afraid?

Prohibition is an issue. Shall the Democratic party stand for the amendment that was ratified by EVERY DEMOCRATIC STATE, or become the champion of an outlawed traffic? What say you, candidates?

And the profiteer? Shall our party be inactive while he shames the highwayman by his conscienceless extortion? What say you, candidates? Have you any plans, or are you flirting with the predatory middleman?

Do you stand for private monopoly, or with the people? Are you with the pirates of high finance, or with their bleeding victims? SPEAK out NOW, so the people can choose intelligently.

Where do you stand on the labor question? Shall those who toil on farm and in factory have an even chance, or do you favor class government by the business class?

And what about the treaty? Do you believe in the right of the majority to rule in the Senate, or is democracy good for Europe only? Do you want the treaty ratified with reservations agreed upon by a large majority, or do you want to play policy with the peace treaty while Europe drifts back into war and republics return to monarchy?

The American people certainly agree with Mr. Bryan in demanding a clear and satisfactory declaration from the Democratic convention on these questions. But will they get it? Will a convention dominated by officeholders controlled by a President who in the last two years has been an apostate to every Democratic principle and to every American principle and to every one of his own professions and ideals "come through clean" on Americanism and democracy and humanitarianism?

It is too much to hope. There is too much evidence that the Democratic party is just a whited sepulcher pretending to represent Jeffersonian democratic ideals, but within full of all uncleanness.

Under the leadership of the President the Democratic party has betrayed Ireland, Egypt, Russia, India, Persia, China, Armenia, Germany and Austria Hungary.

It has thus betrayed two-thirds of the whole human race.

It has betrayed labor.

It has betrayed American constitutional rights of free speech and free press.

It has broken into the homes of decent people without warrant and by methods practiced by King George against our forefathers, and which brought on war. It has put labor leaders in jail and has aided the profiteers to accumulate their thousand millions of gains.

Will the Democratic party purge itself of these sins at San Francisco?

The citizens are echoing Mr. Bryan's pointed questions.

Once More Law Is Construed to Release Big Offender

The decision of Federal Judge Mack that excessive profit taking in cloth is not profiteering in clothing and, therefore, does not violate the Lever act, which does not mention cloth, raises the inquiry:

Was the act framed stupidly or with the intent to leave loopholes for big offenders?

It takes a subtle mind to grasp the fine distinction which the court points out. The law plainly forbids profiteering in wearing apparel. If there is profiteering in cloth, then it affects the price of clothing and is quite as serious to the consumer as if the whole responsibility rested on the makers and venders of clothing.

Probably no jury would have drawn this distinction. Juries usually react to an instinctive sense of right and wrong.

Judge Mack bears too high a reputation to permit the suspicion that his reading of the law was not conscientious. But the fact remains that a social injury has occurred for which his decision cancels the possibility of redress.

The net effect is to leave the average citizen more than ever in doubt as to whether government is functioning in his interest.

Privilege seems to be safe no matter what laws are made.

It is well that this decision is to be appealed.

To Spend $600,000,000 on Highways This Year

Perhaps the most important piece of information printed in any publication this year is the statement which follows:

During 1920 more than $600,000,000 will be spent throughout the United States on improving roads. This is nearly three times the rate of expenditure of five years ago.

For the next six years plans have already been drawn, specifications accepted and appropriations made for an outlay of $3,000,000,000 on our public highways. Before the six years are ended, double that great sum will probably have been voted.

Government experts tell us that 300,000 more miles of first class roadways would increase the value of every acre of tillable land by an average of at least $10, and of every non-tillable acre by at least $1. The increase would pay the whole cost.

Presidents and Congresses may come and go, like seed time and harvest, "leaving not a wrack behind," but any rural community willing to invest in good roads and to practice intelligent farming can make its own welfare secure.

More Truth Than Poetry

Up From Brutality

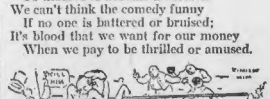
By S. E. KISER

WE stand in the light; we no longer
Have blood-dripping fangs or fierce claws;
We insist that it isn't the stronger
Who always upholds the good cause;
We have turned from the ways that were savage,
We have ceased to be hairy and wild;
We have learned not to murder and ravage,
But we don't want our pleasures too mild.

WE frown upon things that are bestial,
Our faces are turned to the skies;
Our hopes and our aims are eclestial,
The soul-look has softened our eyes;
We are free from the animal passion,
Or nearly, at least, if not quite;
But still we hold fast to the fashion
Of liking to look at a fight.

WE try to have high aspirations,
We have ceased to eat meat that is raw;
We have risen through many gradations,
Establishing order and law;
Brute strength is no longer the measure
By which the wrong thing is made right,
But still we are filled with wild pleasure
At seeing blood spilled in a fight.

THE picture, the play or the story
Is junked in a hurry, unless
We find it sufficiently gory
To deserve to become a success.
We can't think the comedy funny
If no one is battered or bruised;
It's blood that we want for our money
When we pay to be thrilled or amused.



Letters to the Editor

Wilson's Object

Editor Boston American:

Wilson has done something under cover in Paris or he has some object when he tries so persistently to put over this League of Nations. Is he going to be the league's first president (with a large salary attached)? Is he trying to win the Nobel prize—with the un-American, unconstitutional league? Wake up, 100 per cent. Americans!

Eighteenth Amendment

Editor Boston American:

Why all this frenzy of opposition to one of the best, most humane, most progressive and most enobling laws that was ever entered on the statute books of any country on earth? The Eighteenth Amendment is as firmly placed in the Constitution as any of the original parts of the document, and any party that would make this an issue would be writing its death warrant in a deed of folly. The man that advocates the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment is a Copperhead and as much a traitor to his country as the Secessionists of 1861. Copperheads all! For the Eighteenth Amendment is legally, justly and righteously a part of the law of the land, and we need patriots now to uphold it and oppose barbarism as much as we needed them to oppose the Hun. Public sentiment should as emphatically condemn the pro-liquor forces and detest them as it did the pro-Germans in the past.

Victim of Solitaire

Everybody will soon be trading with Russia, but Uncle Sam. Is he a hopeless victim of solitaire?

"WILL YOU take me up
"TO FIFTY-FIFTH street?"
SAID A small boy.
AT A crowded corner.
IN NEW York.
AND I said I would.
AND THE whistle blew.
AND WE started again.
AND TRAILED a bus.
AND AT every corner.
AS WE crawled along.
A SWELTERING group.
MADE FRANTIC moves.
TO STOP the bus.
BUT IT was full.
AND DRIVING the car.
I HAD no time.
TO WATCH the throngs.
BUT THE small boy had.
AND IN a group.
THAT VAINLY waited.
FOR THE bus ahead.
AND SAW it pass.
AND MORE than likely.
HAD WAITED long.
WHILE OTHERS passed.
MY YOUTHFUL friend.
SPIED OUT a woman.
WITH A babe in arms.
AND A little girl.
WHOSE HAND she held.
AND HE spoke of them.
AND I could hear.
IN HIS boyish voice.
A PLEA to stop.
AND I looked back.
AND A block away.
WE REACHED the curb.
AND HE went back.
AND I saw him come.
WITH THE little girl.
AND CLOSE behind.
THE MOTHER came.
WITH THE other child.
AND HE opened the door.
AND THEY all climbed in.
AND AT Fifty-fifth.
I LET him off.
AND THEN went on.
AND WHERE they lived.
WAS SO far away.
THAT I never did get.
TO WHERE I was going.
AND IT took me three hours.
TO LOCATE my wife.
AND EVERYBODY was sore.
BECAUSE I hadn't shown up.
AND WHAT'S a fellow going to do.
IN A case like that.

I THANK you.

THINGS IN GENERAL

Necessary Immigration, Clergymen's Sons and One Term for President

Copyright, 1920, Star Company.

In America, good workers are leaving the farms, where they are needed, to get the better wages in the shop. Henry Ford has a plan to check that, and a good one. Build factories in farming regions, close the factories in Summer, when the farms need the men. Open them in the Winter, when the farmer ordinarily sits around the stove waiting for Spring. But there are few Fords, and there is NO GOVERNMENT to undertake the simple thing that he devises.

Meanwhile it is encouraging, looking at the thing selfishly, to know that while our factory wages are so high that they draw men from the farm our farm wages are high enough to draw skilled mechanics from other countries.

One hundred and eighty-nine mechanics from Spain passed through New York yesterday on their way to the West to take jobs on farms, American farm wages being better than Spanish wages for skilled mechanics.

That is good news for everybody, especially for workmen, some of whose leaders have tried to keep out immigration. If you keep out immigration you keep out farm labor. And if you keep out farm labor the union man who is trying to stop immigration will make some LACK OF FOOD experiments that he won't like.

Skilled labor needs UNSKILLED labor to feed it. It needs unskilled labor to produce potatoes on the farm to feed skilled labor with potatoes. It needs also unskilled labor to climb the ladder and feed the bricks to the bricklayer.

You noticed, perhaps, that statistics show a number of very rich money kings among sons of very poor clergymen. It seems surprising, but it isn't. Men and some of the other animals transmit qualities NOT used by them in their lifetime. Old Mr. Hamlin, of Buffalo, very wise, made up his mind that Mambrino King was the best young trotting colt he ever had. He determined to get from him the best trotters, and he did. His first rule was that Mambrino King, head of a long line of trotting kings, was never to trot a fast mile in his life, and he never did. Not having USED UP his trotting ability, he handed it on to his colts.

If the sons of clergymen succeed in money making, it is because their fathers are bent on moral, charitable and unselfish work, and all their money making scheming power is handed down intact, unused, to their sons.

John Bassett Moore wants Presidential elections every two years.

Dr. Moore, who is a professor of international law and diplomacy, says the President is getting too much power, which is so. The people of this country need a servant, not a boss. But as to the two-year term, the kind Lord forbid. Primaries and two million dollar slush funds every two years would be too often.

It might be possible to get along without any President at all, allowing the Speaker of the House, elected by the people's representatives, to act as executive. The Presidency, of course, was designed to take the place of the English king, and those that planned it little thought that they were creating an office that would possess in a short time much more power than King George of England himself.

The best plan, however, is not to make violent changes in a hurry. It probably would be sufficient to take from the President absolutely every vestige of patronage, every appointment, including especially the appointment of Federal judges. This would keep the President from putting his own opinions on the bench, and from blackjacking Congress into submission by threatening their patronage. The French have about the right kind of a Presidential arrangement. We might imitate it.

MAKE YOUR GUESTS AT HOME

When guests come to your home do you feel that you must do something for them every minute, so that they get not a moment to themselves?

To the majority of guests this is not agreeable, and it leaves the host and hostess in a state of collapse when the friends have departed.

All sensible persons want to rest and be quiet and have time to talk over matters of mutual interest, at least once in awhile.

The more a person loves you the more he or she wants to visit with you.

The guest who wants something doing every minute is not your guest because he cares about you personally, but because of the entertainment you provide.

Then why should you care to entertain a person of this stamp?

On the other hand, you may love your friends so much that you want to keep something going all the time, for you think that this is the way to entertain, and you are ambitious to be a perfect host or hostess.

You have the wrong idea.

Give your guests a little leeway—an opportunity to enjoy themselves in the way they wish. It may be sleep they need, or a sunny corner and a good book, or an hour now and then to stroll as fancy suggests, or to write home, or to think out home problems from a different perspective,
